

ONE MORE PERJURER INDICTED

San Francisco Grand Jury Finds Grounds for Accusing Max Adler of the Crime.

HE DENIED BEING ASKED TO PAY RUEF

Sensational Testimony Said to Have Been Given By Chief of Detectives Martin About Tenderloin Grafting.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The grand jury this afternoon returned an indictment against Max Adler, proprietor of a French restaurant, charging him with perjury. A warrant has been issued for Adler's arrest and bail fixed at $5,000 cash, or $10,000 bonds.

What Perjury Was.—The indictment sets forth that Adler, when testifying before the grand jury during the investigation into alleged extortion practiced on the French restaurants, denied that on January 2, 1905, he was visited by a committee of restaurant proprietors and asked to contribute to a fund to retain Abraham Ruef as an attorney to go before the board of police commissioners and use his influence in preventing the commissioners from taking the liquor licenses from the French restaurants.

After the indictment was returned, Assistant District Attorney Mearns argued before Judge Mearns on a motion to compel Adler to answer the charges. Adler's attorney, George Martin, called one of the most important witnesses that testified before the jury today, was Captain John Martin, former chief of detectives. He was in the secret chamber for many minutes and, according to his own statement, gave very important testimony relative to several tenderloin deserts.

After Captain Martin concluded his testimony, all witnesses were excused until Tuesday morning. Among the witnesses in the afternoon at the time were Detectives J. J. Mitchell and Cornelius of the city hall district, who had been detailed to raid houses of ill-repute.

HARRIMAN INTERVIEWED

Government Owned Railroads Are Impossible.

Present Discussion and Agitation Will Lead People to Seeing This.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Elkhart, Ind., says:

"Government ownership of the transportation facilities of the country would be inconceivable, impracticable and utterly impossible."

This statement was made by Edward H. Harriman yesterday as the Twentieth Century Limited sped toward New York. When first asked to give his opinion regarding government ownership, Harriman flatly refused, declaring:

"Oh, I couldn't talk about that. Why? Because government ownership is not now an imminent question, and in my judgment it never will become such."

"Do you think," was asked, "that the present agitation and the present inquiry into the ownership and operation of railroads is diverting the mind of the public into channels which may ultimately lead to government ownership?"

"Not at all," said Harriman emphatically. "On the contrary, the present agitation is going to have exactly the opposite effect. The more agitation there is, and the greater discussion on these subjects, the more the people will see the incongruity of government ownership."

The questions involved in the transportation problem of this country are being more and more discussed in their broader sense and significance.

"This must result in a better understanding by the people in general of the conditions which surround the transportation business and the conditions under which the railroads operate. When there is a thorough public understanding of these conditions the conclusion of the public will be inevitable and will be such as I have indicated."

FEARFUL EARTHQUAKES IN THE SOUTH SEAS

Steamer Captain Reports Tremors and Tidal Waves in German New Guinea.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 23.—Alarming earthquake shocks in German New Guinea, the Bismarck archipelago, followed by tidal waves, causing much loss of life among the natives, are reported by the steamer Alouana from the South seas.

Captain Prejawa of the German steamer Siam, which reached Sydney, Australia, reported that near Finchol his steamer rolled and vibrated considerably, due to seismic disturbances. The effect was plain ashore, features being visible in the mountain. A tidal wave swept the low lying coast devastating the country for forty miles.

At Chissel island, in Dampier straits, the tidal wave wrought great havoc, hardly a native left being left. Along the New Guinea coast Captain Prejawa saw fissures in the mountain side 200 feet long and 100 feet deep. Captain Prejawa was unable to estimate the loss of life, but thought it considerable.

MILLER & LUX CO.'S MONEY IS RELEASED

Stockholders to Receive Dividends for Five Years By Supreme Court Decision.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—By a decision of the Supreme court today, the stockholders of the Miller & Lux company will receive annual dividends amounting to $300,000 a year from 1907 to 1917, inclusive, a legal technicality having been removed which had kept the money tied up. The stock of the company amounts to $12,000,000, which will now be divided among the stockholders.

HOW TEDDY WON THEM

Porto Ricans Greatly Impressed By His Personality.

Nearly Tried to Rescue Man in 'Water and Let Chauffeur Have Lunch.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Nov. 23.—President Roosevelt, who sailed from Ponce for Hampton Roads on the flagship Louisiana at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, greatly impressed the inhabitants of this island with his personality at notably favorable results may follow.

The president's trip yesterday from San Juan to Ponce, by way of Arecibo, was one continued ovation, in spite of the announcement of the change of his plans, necessitating his return to Ponce in order to embark on the Louisiana. All the towns through which the president passed were cordially decorated and crowded with people. He made speeches at Arecibo, Utuado and Adjuntas.

Near Bayamon, Nuriel, the Rough Rider who was with Roosevelt at San Juan hill met the president at the train and presented him with a box of grape fruit from the Norton farm.

While crossing the river from Arecibo to Utuado the president's automobile stuck in the mud, but was pulled out by a team of oxen. While this work was in progress one of the mounted members of the presidential escort was thrown from his horse into the river, falling near the president's automobile. The president was upon the point of jumping to the man's assistance when the latter was pulled out of the water.

Before leaving Utuado the president was informed that his chauffeur, an American named Hughes, had not been able to eat his lunch on account of having to repair the automobile, whereupon the president insisted that the party wait at Utuado until the chauffeur had refreshed himself.

AGED EMBEZZLER IS HELD FOR OLD CRIME

Had Repaid Nearly Whole Sum of $20,000, But Employer Is Adamant.

NEW YORK, William Wescott Bridgman, aged 60, of Nutley, N. J., was held for the grand jury here yesterday. He is accused of having stolen $20,000 from his former employer, J. W. Hanlon, a contracting engineer. He admitted the theft. Bridgman is said to have lost the money in speculation.

Bridgman's aged wife fainted in court when the magistrate's decision was announced. She was taken to her home and a physician was called, who said the blow might result seriously.

Bridgman's theft occurred two years ago and since then he has been making restitution. He claims that all but $1,500 of the amount had been paid, that he expected to pay the remainder and that why he was arrested now he did not know.

Hanlon said last night that he had caused Bridgman's arrest simply from a sense of duty.

CREEK SPOKESMAN FAVORS NOMADISM

Senate Committee on Indian Affairs Had a Taste of Real Civilization.

TULSA, I. T., Nov. 23.—Chitto Chat, better known as Crazy Snake, chief of the Crazy Snake faction of the Creek Indians, who is said to voice the sentiments of one-third of the Creek nation, made a dramatic speech today before the senate committee that is investigating Indian affairs. He pleaded for a return to the conditions existing under the treaty of 1832, when the Indians held land in common and retained the forests in nomadic fashion.

HUGHES IS OUT FOR REFORM

Notable Speech By Governor-Elect of New York at Banquet of the Republican Club

PEOPLE'S IMPATIENCE WITH EVIL CONDITIONS

There Need Be No Pessimism, But There Must Be Willingness to Remove the Causes of Unrest and Discontent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—More than 700 Republicans, representative of various sections of New York state, attended the dinner given to Governor-elect Charles E. Hughes by the Republican club of New York, in the Waldorf-Astoria tonight. State Republican Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff was toastmaster. Governor Higgins could not be present. Senators Platt and Dewey were also absent. Letters of regret were read from Secretaries Root and Taft.

How Defeat Was Avoided.—Woodruff said in part: "We were saved from defeat of our ticket only by the ebullitions of heart and the most fortunate and opportune evolution of Hughes."

"We must not fail to give a considerable share of the credit for Mr. Hughes' election to the unselfish efforts of those patriotic Democrats who saw in Hughes' election a menace to the prosperity we are now enjoying, and to the stability of our form of government."

"I pledge to Governor Hughes the unqualified, the undivided support of what may be termed the Republican political machine in his efforts to carry out the wishes of the people of the state."

Former Governor Frank S. Black warned the Republican party not to become a pathetic.

Hughes' Address.—Hughes said: "Optimist and pessimist, the timid and the courageous, the sanguine and the bilious, have made me the repository of their hopes and their fears, their gloomy forebodings and their triumphant exultations. Out of it all I spell opportunity, responsibility and God-gifted ability."

"We may not be able, completely to agree as to the cause of the existing uneasiness and discontent. But we must agree as to our immediate duty. We should meet the conditions, so far as they lie within our province, squarely, candidly and with readiness to serve the public. If there are those who are alarmed at discontent as such, and who, satisfied with their lot, view with ill concealed impatience and disgust efforts at improvement, I am not one of them."

Remove the Causes.—"We may well be concerned at indications of impatience with law and with the orderly processes of government. And it should be our aim, as far as possible, to remove the causes of irritation by insisting upon just and impartial administration. We want a spirit of fair play toward individuals, toward institutions and toward the public. We desire the rule of the judgment of a free people, alive to the responsibilities of citizenship, and in order to maintain it we set ourselves against any attempt to evoke the monster of unreasonableness, the common enemy of all, which would threaten society itself."

"It is not my purpose at this time to formulate a policy. I simply desire to indicate to you what I am sure is in the minds of all that the people are in no mood to tolerate indifference in the public interest and we must, in our orderly way, as behooves those who believe in constitutional government, but none the less effectively, pledge ourselves to the removal of abuses which have vexed popular patience."

His Own Spokesman.—"It may be proper to add that I shall be my own spokesman. Pleasant as have been the intimate relations which I have sustained with many of you, and dearest as I am at all times to have the full benefit of your friendship, it is proper and necessary that I should reserve for myself the privilege and the duty of stating my personal views."

CHICAGO NEGROES CRITICIZE ROOSEVELT

Dismissal of Colored Soldiers Was the Subject of Heated Oratory.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Two thousand negroes in Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church last night severely criticized President Roosevelt for dismissing the three companies of colored troops involved in the Breckenridge, Tex., riots. In a personal letter to the president and in resolutions addressed to the war department the meeting urged the rescinding of the action.

As an illustration of the death of their feelings in the matter, the spokesman of the negroes declared that Chicago would take one of the companies and support it here until the president comes to see the injustice of his course.

Former Senator Warner Dead.—CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 23.—General William Warner, ex-United States senator from Alabama, died after the civil war, died suddenly at the age of 82. He was colonel of an Ohio regiment and later commanded a brigade in the Union army.

ALLEGED FIREBUG SENT TO BELLEVUE

He Claims to Have Been Ordered By God to Cleanse By Fire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Walter E. Finney, 23 years old, who the police declared, has informed them that he has a mission from the Lord to "cleanse and chastise by fire," was arrested today, charged with setting the series of fires which created consternation and did considerable damage in the vicinity of Twenty-third street and Eighth avenue early yesterday.

The police say Finney has confessed that he set one of the fires and that he was present when several of the other houses were burning and also at numerous fires in the upper West Side within the past few weeks. Finney was arrested in the hallway of a tenement house in Seventeenth street near Eighth avenue today. His strange antics had attracted the attention of a policeman, who followed him when he entered the hallway of the house.

The police declare that the boy confessed to setting fire to the tenement house at 330 West Seventeenth street yesterday morning. He is quoted by the police as saying he was passing 330 West Seventeenth street when the Lord told him to cleanse and chastise them by fire. He went into the hallway, he said to have told the police, and piled a lot of paper against the gas jet and set fire to the place.

Finney lives with a widowed mother. He was sent to Bellevue for five days for examination as to his sanity.

SOUTH AMERICAN MINISTER RETURNED

Honduras and Salvador Sent Dr. Paez in Pursuance of Treaty for Awhile.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Dr. Rosa C. Paez, the newly appointed minister to this country from Salvador and Honduras, has returned to his home in Salvador. He remained here only a short time after his presentation to the president and Secretary Root, and it is reported in diplomatic circles that he will not come back to Washington.

According to the terms of the recent treaty of peace and commerce framed at San Jose by representatives of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador and Costa Rica, all of these four countries agreed to accept the presidents of the United States and Mexico as arbiters of any disputes arising between them in the future. The treaty also provided that within three months after the completion of the treaty the four countries were to send a minister to both Washington and Mexico City.

Honduras and Salvador complied with this requirement by sending Dr. Paez, even though his stay was brief, and members of the diplomatic corps think it unlikely that Salvador and Honduras will maintain regular missions in Washington. For many years these two republics have not kept ministers in the United States.

JUDGE GROSSCUP ON CORPORATIONS

Bryan, Hearst and Roosevelt Are Wrong, and Public Participation Is Right.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 23.—United States Judge Peter S. Grosscup, of Chicago, was a guest of honor and the principal speaker at a dinner of the Knickerbocker club in this city tonight.

Speaking on "Corporations," Judge Grosscup said:

"Unquestionably, the important position that Hearst has obtained in the politics of New York, and in the politics of the country—a position that drew to him enough Republican votes to enable him to divide with the Republican ticket almost equally the vote of New York—is due, more than to all other causes combined, to the relation that the corporations of the country are believed to bear to the people of the country, and to Mr. Hearst's attitude on the questions that those relations exercise. And out of this corporate question, too, Mr. Bryan has obtained his political power and Mr. Roosevelt his foremost power and position."

Judge Grosscup declared that the remedies advocated by Roosevelt, Bryan and Hearst would prove ineffective. He proposed the reconstruction of the great corporations so that the people would have a share in them and the regulation of the corporations by the government.

INDOOR FOOTBALL A NEW INVENTION

Los Angeles Man Who Invented Indoor Baseball Has Added to His Triumphs.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—George W. Hancock, a local sporting editor, the inventor of indoor baseball, has also invented a game called "indoor football." His rules will permit the playing of football in rinks and halls where a ground space of at least 100 by 50 feet is afforded. Nine players to side are provided for.

The ball is to be an elongated affair with a loop at one end to which is attached a cord thirty feet in length with a snap at the other end which is fastened to the belt of one of the players designated as "the anchor." This is to prevent the ball being constantly kicked out of bounds. The rules are lengthy and provide for every feature of the game.

BURNING BACON TO KEEP FROM FREEZING IN NEW MEXICO TOWN

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 23.—A special to the Herald from Culbunk, N. M., says that the fuel supply in that town is exhausted and people have been forced to burn bacon to keep from freezing. Schools have been dismissed in consequence of terrible cold. The snow is a foot deep in town and two feet deep on the ranges. The snowfall in El Paso this winter is already 8.25 inches, exceeding the former record of three inches.

CONGRESS TOUCHED POLITICS

Bryan's Resolutions in Trans-Mississippi Convention Led to a Heated Debate.

JOHN P. IRISH WAS FORNIST 'EM

They Were Carried in Spite of Fear that they Pledged the Body to Public Ownership—Last Meeting Was Held.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 23.—The introduction of politics into the proceedings of the trans-Mississippi commercial congress was narrowly averted this afternoon when the report of the committee on resolutions was submitted for action.

John P. Irish, chairman of the committee, had scarcely finished reading the report when L. V. Irvine of St. Louis, vice president of the congress, made an impassioned address concerning the action of the resolutions committee in omitting from its report the two resolutions introduced to the congress by William J. Bryan during his speech last night.

Irvine then offered the Bryan resolutions for the consideration of the congress.

The chairman suggested that consideration of the two Bryan resolutions be postponed until the report of the committee on resolutions as reported had been adopted and the suggestion was agreed to. The report of the committee was adopted and Irvine then formally offered the Bryan resolution against private monopoly.

Why Irish Opposed.—Irish, in reply to the speech of Irvine, said he opposed the Bryan resolutions because of the views of Bryan expressed in his New York speech. He said those views were of such a nature that he did not want the congress to go on record as supporting them directly or indirectly. He said that Bryan, an eminent dilettante and candidate for political honors, had advocated government ownership of all public utilities and that an endorsement of the resolution would be an indirect endorsement of government ownership of such utilities.

Not All Utilities.—Several delegates remonstrated with Irish that he had not advocated the public ownership of all public utilities and Thomas Knight of Kansas City asked Irish, "Does the authorship of a resolution stamp the resolution?" and Irish rejoined, "Would you consider any resolution put by Mr. Harriman?" Knight answered, "I would, if a good one."

Without further debate, the resolution offered by Irvine was adopted and Bryan's first resolution was submitted and adopted without debate.

For New Mexico.—Ex-Governor L. B. Prince of New Mexico made a strong plea for statehood for that territory. He said that at the last election New Mexico voted for statehood, although all possibility of securing statehood by the election was precluded by the terms of the ballot, which meant "Shall New Mexico and Arizona be admitted as one state?" instead of "Shall Arizona and New Mexico be admitted to statehood?"

He said he had lived in the capital of New Mexico twenty-seven years and during that time he had never seen a man there from Arizona. He said there was nothing in common between the two territories and there was every reason why they should not be admitted as one state. He said New Mexico had elected sixty-six delegates at the last election who would meet and draft a constitution after which it would be submitted to congress.

Friend of Arizona.—Congressman Stevens of Texas requested that he be allowed to submit a resolution favoring statehood for Arizona, saying that he wanted to act as "the friend in court" of that territory, which had no representative in the congress. Stevens wanted to make his resolution an amendment to the New Mexico resolution, but Governor Prince objected, saying that New Mexico had voted in favor of statehood while Arizona had voted against it.

"I don't blame Arizona for voting against it," they are Americans there, while you have a good many Mexicans in New Mexico," rejoined Congressman Stevens.

Congressman Stevens then submitted a resolution worded similarly to the New Mexico resolution, favoring the separate statehood for Arizona and the resolution was accepted by the resolutions committee and adopted with the rest of the report.

Railroad Problems.—George V. Kindel of Denver offered a resolution for the classification of railroad rates, so that the rate for long and short hauls would be proportionately the same.

Thomas Knight of Missouri, a civil engineer widely known in the West, introduced the following resolution:

"That this congress appoint a standing committee to consider the problem of railroad transportation and its relation to the internal development of the Western states and territories and report on the same to the next session of this congress."

The date of the next meeting will be decided upon by the executive committee and a local committee from Muskegon.

SENATOR DEPEW WARMLY GREETED

At Chamber of Commerce Dinner in New York; Friends Crowded Around.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Senator Chauncey M. Depew's first public appearance, since his illness, at the Chamber of Commerce dinner last night, caused a stir at that function. As many of his fellow guests as could reach him pressed forward to grasp his hand, and even the junior senators of the State were the center of attention.

Senator Depew has grown thinner, but he has not aged in appearance, despite his illness. He greeted his friends with a warm handshake and to their inquiries concerning his health replied that he felt as well as ever.

The reception to Senator Depew did not end in the outer room. For some time after he had taken his seat at the table his friends, scattered all over the room, came to shake hands with him. Depew seemed to be much pleased with the cordiality manifested toward him.

TO BUILD TUNNEL UNDER THE SEINE

New York Engineer Retained to Duplicate the North River Tunnel There.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The French government has retained Charles M. Jacobs of this city, who designed the North and East rivers, to prepare plans for a tunnel to be built under the river Seine between Rouen and Havre. The French tunnel will have two railroad tracks. It will be about a mile in length. The cost of construction is estimated at between $10,000,000 and $11,000,000. It is to be modeled after the North river tunnel here.

TO IMPROVE WATERWAYS

Stockton Chamber of Commerce Gave Banquet.

Senator Perkins, Three Congressmen and Others Discussed the Problems.

STOCKTON, Nov. 23.—The Stockton Chamber of Commerce gave a banquet tonight to which were invited the congressional delegation from California and the two senators, besides representatives of the commercial bodies of the state, with the object of discussing the needs of California in improving the navigation of the rivers, following the suggestions made by Congressman Randall when he recently visited the coast.

Senator Perkins and Congressmen Needham, McKinlay and Smith were present. The California Promotion Committee was represented by Rufus Jennings and the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce by Lieutenant Governor Anderson, the president; Commissioner F. D. Ryan was here with Engineers Nurse and Randall, of the state board of public works. Fresno was represented by Secretary Robertson of the Chamber of Commerce, Assemblyman Drew and M. F. Tarpey.

Mayor M. J. Gardner was toastmaster and toasts were responded to as follows:

BROOKLYN BRIDGE IS DECLARED SAFE

Mayor McClellan and Other Officials Dispel of Alarming Story of Danger.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Mayor McClellan, Bridge Commissioner Stevenson and Chief Engineer Ingersoll of the bridge department, united yesterday in saying that the Brooklyn bridge is on a safe and sound basis and that there is no danger of its falling into the water.

It seems that General Manager Calderwood of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, to whom was attributed the story, did not mean to convey the impression that the bridge is in danger of collapsing, but that he was afraid they could not run any more trains or cars on the bridge without danger of accidents, such as collisions and derailments.

Dr. Crapney Will Quit Church.—ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The Post Express announces this afternoon that the Rev. Dr. A. S. Crapney had decided to resign from the ministry of the Episcopal church. This would obviate the necessity of Bishop Walker passing sentence.

COLGAN'S JOB FOR NYE

Governor Pardee Appoints His Private Secretary to the Vacant Controllorship.

POSITION FILLED UNTIL JANUARY 7TH

If the Law Requires a New Appointment Then the Governor Will Make It—To Be No Changes in Controller's Staff

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 23.—Governor Pardee today appointed A. B. Nye to be state controller to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of State Controller H. P. Colgan. Nye will enter upon his new duties tomorrow, after filing his bonds and qualifying for the office.

A. B. Nye has filled the position of private secretary to Governor Pardee during the four years that the governor has been in office. With his appointment as state controller, some changes will be made in the force in the governor's office. J. A. Eldon, who has been executive secretary to the governor, will be advanced to the position vacated by Nye, and E. C. Torogood will be given the place of executive secretary. These changes will go into effect tomorrow when Nye steps out of the governor's office into that of state controller.

Nye's Statement.—Regarding his appointment, Nye says: "I have but one statement to make at this time. The governor has appointed me to fill the place of the late State Controller Colgan and I will enter upon the duties of that office as soon as I file my bond and qualify, which will be on Saturday."

"This appointment, as far as I know at present, holds until January 7th, when, if it is required by the law, the governor will make a new appointment. The present force in the controller's office will be in their places as before the death of E. P. Colgan."

Expected Four-Year Term.—"There will be no changes in the office until the 7th of January, and I do not wish it understood that it is to be taken in the light that I contemplate any change in the office force even then. Deputy D. A. Moulton, who served under Colgan, will fill the place under me."

The Force in the controller's office.—Consists of D. A. Moulton, deputy; C. A. Root, clerk; F. P. Swain, bookkeeper; W. C. Soren, H. P. Roper, E. M. Jeffords, M. F. Coleman and A. B. Lemmon, clerks, and E. F. Cannon, porter.

KILLS SELF AND HUSBAND

Awful Double Tragedy in Chicago House.

Wife Wielded Revolver With Fatal Effect—No Cause Known for Crime.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—James H. Delaney, vice president of the American Shipping company, was today shot and killed by his wife, who immediately afterwards committed suicide. The cause of the shooting is not known.

Mrs. Delaney, in whose house the tragedy took place, declared that Mr. and Mrs. Delaney had not quarreled in her knowledge. The couple had been in this city but a few weeks, having come from New York, where Delaney was well known.

The occupants of the house at 490 La Salle avenue heard no shooting nor disturbances in the Delaney apartment. Late today a servant forced an entrance into the apartments, after having made several previous efforts. The body of Delaney was found on the bed with a bullet wound in the back of his head.

The body of Mrs. Delaney was lying close by, a bullet having been fired into her brain through the mouth. The revolver was still clutched in the hand of Mrs. Delaney when the room was entered.

New York.—James H. Delaney, who was shot and killed by his wife, who afterwards killed herself in Chicago today, was president and treasurer of the American Shipping company, which has a branch office in this city. Delaney's home was in Chicago, but he frequently visited New York and was well known here. He started for Chicago ten days ago. The first news of the tragedy which reached his office here was from press dispatches from Chicago, and nobody at Delaney's office could throw any light on the affair.

Delaney was married eight years ago. The couple had no children. Mrs. Delaney before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Brown of Wells Point, Tex. She was 30 years old and her husband 30.

VERDICT WAS A SURPRISE

Visalia Jury Goes Contrary to Instructions.

Judgment Given for A. J. Kennedy for $3500 in Land Trial.

VISALIA, Nov. 23.—A surprise was sprung in the Superior court this morning when the jury in the case of A. J. Kennedy against S. C. Brown II, Levenson and W. S. Fletcher, involving $18,500 in a land transaction, brought in a verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $3500. There was no little evidence in support of the plaintiff's contention that Judge Wallace had decided yesterday evening that if a motion were made by defendants for a non-suit he would throw the case out of court. All of the instructions requested by plaintiff's attorneys were set aside and only those read to the jury which had been asked for by the defense.

In spite of this fact, every ballot taken by the jury except the first was favorable to the plaintiff, and from a statement made by one of the jurors it looked but one vote to grant him the entire amount asked for. Immediately upon the bringing in of the verdict, Attorneys E. C. Farnsworth and Alfred Daggett for the defense, addressed the court and asked that the court exercise its prerogative in setting aside the verdict as being contrary to the evidence and to the instructions given. The matter was taken under advisement by Judge Wallace.

When the taking of the evidence was completed, about 4:30 yesterday evening, Attorney Partridge asked that the case be submitted without argument. He stated that he wanted to take an early train for San Francisco so as to be there today. The attorneys for the defense objected and short arguments were made. Mr. Partridge for the plaintiff and Attorneys Daggett and Farnsworth for the defense, after which the instructions were read and the case went to the jury. That body went to supper immediately, and its first ballot was taken immediately upon its return. It was on the question of whether the plaintiff was entitled to recover the full amount and stood six for plaintiff and six for defendants.

The second ballot stood eight for plaintiff and four for defendants, and several more were taken between 8 and 11 o'clock when the jury retired for the night. This morning before 9 o'clock several more ballots were taken without change until the last when it was decided to compromise the matter. As one juror expressed it, "We didn't want to disagree, so we thought we would fix it up with a less amount."

It is understood that there was no particular reason for fixing upon $3500 other than that it was suggested as a compromise and agreed to, rather than no verdict should be reached.

When the verdict was read by Foreman J. L. Moffett, it apparently occasioned almost as much surprise to the plaintiff as to the defense. It was evident that neither Mr. Partridge nor his client, Kennedy, after the statements of Judge Wallace regarding the non-suit and the instructions to the jury had any hopes of a favorable verdict.

Mr. Farnsworth in asking that the verdict be thrown out, declared that there was no doubt a misapprehension by the jury of the instructions of the court. Attorney Partridge delivered himself of a few remarks in which he said that a verdict had been rendered and that it ought to stand. Attorney Daggett said that the verdict was no doubt due to a misunderstanding of the jury of the evidence and instructions of the court.

When the arguments had been completed, Judge Wallace announced that the matter would be taken under advisement. Several of the jurors, when seen this morning, refused to talk about the case at all. One said, however, that with the exception of the first ballot, all had inclined to the side of the plaintiff. The juror admitted that none of the jury understood the case. "It was no mixed up that as a matter of fact, we couldn't get head or tail of it."

The jury was composed as follows: J. L. Moffett, foreman; J. S. Birkhead, H. A. Carter, Harvey Harrell, H. H. Harnett, G. W. Bannan, A. H. Collins, J. S. Herndon, G. Z. Watson, S. B. Sprague, James Swerney, and W. P. Carls.

"Big" Jaramia, who in a fit of Armenian recklessness, slashed another Indian with a large knife near the Indian reservation two months ago, this afternoon pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and was sentenced by Judge Wallace to serve three months in the county jail.

Jaramia, with two other Indians, had been drinking and were riding horseback toward the reservation. They were hilarious and having a general good time. Jaramia drew his knife and made a swipe at the other, saying, he says, and the evidence seems to bear out his statement. The blame entered the other's shoulder, making a flesh wound. He was committed to the county jail, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, which was later changed to assault with a deadly weapon. Jaramia has already served two months in jail.

I Guarantee Everything

In buying my land, the buyer takes no risk whatever, as I stand behind everything. With the land I deed a pro rata portion of the pumping plant, which I guarantee to be of sufficient capacity if properly handled, to irrigate all the land. I also guarantee the wells to furnish sufficient water to irrigate all the land as often as is necessary to raise the crops.

I further make the unbroken proposition of guaranteeing the land, which is something new in the land business. But I know what it is, and am willing to back it up with my whole fortune, and if you are not satisfied after the crop is raised, notify me and I will cheerfully pay your money back.

Remember, in buying this land you are locating in 1-2 to 3 miles of Mendota, are getting some of the best land in Fresno county, have an everlasting water right at cost, have the water for domestic and garden purposes piped to your door, and if you are not perfectly satisfied, get your money back. Can you equal it? The land will be divided and sold, beginning December 18th, 1906. Get your choice. For further information write S. I. Heisinger, Kingsburg, Cal., or see G. E. Heisinger on the land, 3 miles southwest of Mendota.

PREPARING FOR POULTRY SHOW IN DECEMBER

State Fanciers Grooming Their Fowls for Next Months Display.

In preparation for the poultry show to be given in this city on December 12, 13, 14 and 15, the Fresno Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock association held a meeting yesterday afternoon in the Holland building. The association meets each month and at yesterday's meeting the committee to have charge of securing a place for the exhibit and preparing camps for the entries were appointed. It has not been definitely decided where the show is to be held, but it is probable that the old business college building on N-street, where it was held last year, will be secured for the purpose.

This year's exhibit will be the eighth annual show given by the local association. There is no restriction placed on those who wish to make entries, except the rules of the Association. There is no territorial limit for entries. A catalogue containing the premium list and rules for judging the show has been printed and copies sent to all fanciers whose addresses could be obtained throughout the state, inviting competition. The premium list contains 203 class prizes, besides a number of general prizes offered by business firms in this city. All entries must be placed before December 4th, and anyone wishing to exhibit an entry must file his intention on blanks furnished by the secretary of the association, George H. Andrews, before this date.

This year's show is to be the largest ever given by the association. Competitors throughout the state, from San Diego to Sacramento, have already signified their intentions of placing entries. Thirteen classes are to be exhibited, including every kind of domestic fowl raised in the state. Points are to be awarded by comparison, and the judges of the show will be Rene Woodruff of Stockton and R. J. Vein of Fresno.

UPPER COURT

PROCEEDINGS

H. Gazarian Sues Prominent Citizens for Slander.

Says They Spread Report that He Set Fire to the Chance Block.

H. Gazarian, a local dentist, who gained notoriety by his charges against the state dental commission several years ago, yesterday filed a suit for $10,000 for slander against A. D. Chance, Abe Kaitner, L. S. Knight, B. D. Carver, Louis Heilbron and Knight & Ewing. The complainant alleges that the defendants have cut off his means of making a livelihood by false and malicious statements that he was responsible for the fire in the Chance block last May.

Gazarian avers that for twelve years prior to the 31st of last May he practiced the profession of dentistry at No. 1131 I street and that he was always held in high esteem as a good citizen and an honored member of the dental profession. At the time of the fire in the Chance block the efforts of his office were injured and he alleges that the false accusation that he set fire to the building has kept him from renting another office in Fresno.

Attorney Henry Brickley, representing J. E. Upton, who was last month convicted of vagrancy in connection with running a house of ill fame and sentenced to six months in jail without the alternative of a fine, yesterday filed an appeal from the verdict of the Police court. Brickley filed a lengthy bill of exceptions in which he makes the point that the court should have allowed Sergeant Walton, the complaining witness, to answer questions about other houses of ill fame in the vicinity. The appeal was set for hearing next Friday at 2 o'clock before Judge Church.

Clifford Welliver, who is accused of attempting to rob Chin Xuen of $5 by attacking him on York avenue on the 28th of last month, was yesterday afternoon released on his own recognizance by Judge Austin. The boy pleaded not guilty to the charge and with the consent of the district attorney he was allowed to go free. Judge Austin warned him to stop the use of cigarettes and keep good company. The boy is only 20 years of age and lives with his parents on Columbus avenue. It is the opinion of the officers that he is not a bad young man, but has been dispirited too much.

Thomas Seesay, who is accused of stealing a gray mare belonging to J. Ninave on the 23rd of last September, was arraigned in Judge Church's court yesterday morning. He pleaded not guilty and his case was set for trial on the 22nd of this month.

The case against J. C. Frosell, better known as "Chin Moran," charged with the murder of Barney Musely at the Red House last summer, was set for trial on the 11th of this month. Moran was tried once and the jury disagreed. The second trial was the focus of a Selma against K. Tagami and J. B. Brower came up yesterday and were put over indefinitely, to be called up by either side.

Certificates of election were issued yesterday afternoon by the county clerk to J. F. Campbell, constable-elect of the Fifth township and W. R. Shannon, justice-elect of the Fourth township. Each officer filed a bond.

IN INTEREST OF THE AGRICULTURAL BUREAU

J. E. Richards, Former Governor of Montana, Visits Fresno in Tour of State.

J. E. Richards, special agent for the Department of Agriculture, visited the Chamber of Commerce yesterday morning as he stopped off in this city for a few hours in his tour of the state. Mr. Richards, who was formerly governor of Montana, is traveling in the interest of the farmers and is seeking to bring them to take advantage of the statistics and advisory reports compiled and sent out by the federal government. Above all, he is trying to get them to contribute the facts and figures of local conditions to the agricultural bureau so that the published reports will be of special interest to more people.

Mr. Richards was especially pleased and interested in the showing made by Fresno county according to the exhibits shown at the Chamber of Commerce. He stated that the local raisin industry was a good example of what the reports of the department lack and should contain, and although the conditions governing grape raising in this locality are different from those in other districts, a comparison of results in different sections would do much to improve the industry. Speaking of crops in general throughout the parts of California already visited, Mr. Richards stated that the indications are that this year will be, on the average, a success-but one. Even though the output is not so great, the prices for produce have risen sufficiently to offset this condition. From Fresno, Mr. Richards intends to tour the northern part of the state, stopping for some time at the department headquarters at Berkeley.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. MARY BONNAFFON

Mrs. Mary Daisy Bonnaffon, wife of G. H. Bonnaffon, recent Democratic nominee for auditor, died yesterday morning after an illness of several weeks. The deceased had lived in this state for a number of years, coming here from Pennsylvania, where she was born 55 years ago. The funeral will take place from the chapel of Stephens & Bean's undertaking parlors this afternoon at 2 o'clock under the auspices of the Women of Woodcraft, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. Duncan Wallace will officiate.

CAMPOLONIO HELD FOR MURDEROUS ASSAULT

Shot Cherubino Fambrial in the Head Over Dispute About Nationality. Louis Campolonia, the Italian who is accused of an assault to commit murder upon Cherubino Fambrial, at the Remy road house on the 24th of last month, was held to answer yesterday before Justice of Peace Smith and returned to jail in default of $2000 bail.

Fambrial claims that after an altercation with several other Italians in the saloon on account of his being a Lauchese, while the rest were Genoese, Campolonia called him outside and shot him in the head. Crighton & St. John are defending the accused man.

BRIBER OR BRIBED?

Which is worse, the briber or the bribed? Public sentiment says the briber; and perhaps it is right. The bribe-taker is afraid of disgrace, as well as of jail, if he confesses. The bribe-giver will cheerfully confess, if you guarantee him against jail. He does not fear the breath of public scorn. He has merely bought what was for sale; and while it may have been disgraceful to have such things on sale, it is defensible to buy them if they are to be had. Often, the thing bought is no more than ought to be granted for nothing, anyway, and the briber, who had to pay for it, feels a sense of injured innocence rather than of guilt. And yet the law makes the giver and taker of bribes equally guilty.

It all depends on the point of view. The prostitute is regarded as lower than her patron. On the other hand, the seducer is regarded as lower than his victim. So with public corruption. The man who weakly yields to a government already corrupt is regarded as secondary culprit. But the man who deliberately corrupts the public service ought to be regarded as even more guilty than the man he corrupts. And this situation, we make no doubt, is far commoner than the self-righteous bribe-givers would have us believe. Few of the men elected to public office were thieves in private life. They had successfully met the simple temptations of ordinary business, and had not stolen from the till nor cheated customers. Such men, elected to office, do not start in looking for loot. The temptation is thrust upon them, in manifold and seductive forms, skillfully disguised. Probably, nearly every greater resists many times before he yields once. And every municipal board, every state legislature, every board of supervisors, is surrounded with a horde of eager lobbyists, seeking for privileges which they know they can not get honestly, and are anxious to pay for dishonestly. They know all the grades of graft, and understand the art of tangling the novice in a web of obligations and semi-legitimate bribery, until he is helpless to resist the poison of actual criminal bribery. The first stage may be nothing worse than log-rolling and vote trading; the last stage is a direct criminal bargain. The bribe-givers know the game, and forswear the end from the first; the bribe-takers, in many cases, were led blindly into the net. We are sure, for instance, that the Southern Pacific has done more to corrupt the legislatures of California than have all the legislatures ever did to black-mail the Southern Pacific. Or, at the other end of the scale, more bribes have been thrust on frontier policemen than were ever extorted by them. In five cases out of six, the bribe-giver is the more active; and therefore the more guilty party to the transaction. And the man who, as briber, delinches the public service, is no more entitled to hold up his head in honor than is the miserable political buff who bought.

A LAME DEFENSE.

It sounds strange to hear so intelligent a man as Rabbi Vooranger repeat the common middle-headed defense of Schmitz and Ruef. Yet we read that in a New York interview the distinguished rabbi seriously urged that Schmitz is a virtuous man of family; who is good to his wife, and that Ruef is a university graduate and a quiet, sober, home-keeping man. Of course. But is Rabbi Vooranger so unversed in the way of the world as to suppose that the Sunday-school virtues are any guarantee against dishonesty? It is better to be sober than drunk; but not because the sober man is necessarily honest or the drunken man necessarily dishonest. The drunken man is going to be a failure, honest or dishonest, but the prosecution in whose rear he marches is quite as likely to be the honest as the dishonest one. And the men at the head of both processions are pretty sure to be sober ones. Leadership, even of the tongs, belongs to the man not personally a tongs. The harrow "good fellow" never rises above the grade of non-commissioned officer, and his squad of followers is scarcely more numerous than can drink at one time from one bar. The captains and generals of graft are always sober, frequently have all the domestic virtues, and are, as often as not, educated men, with the manners and appearance of gentlemen. The gossip thing is a low-browed tough, but the head of the system in whose sewers the low tough crawls is a very different type of man. The master of graft can no more afford to shatter his nerves with personal vices than the master of business.

Whatever issues may or may not be raised as to the law or propriety of Governor Pardee making an appointment intended to cover the entire four years of the term to which the late Controller Colgan was elected, there can be no question made of the quality of the appointment. A. B. Nye, the new controller, is one of the best trusted and most competent men in the state. As private secretary to the governor, he has performed an expert familiarity with all the departments of the state government, and his well-known ability and high character are a guarantee that the place will be filled with unflinching vigilance and honesty. It will be a favor to the state if Mr. Nye can be retained in its service.

THE COLOR LINE.

It was Burchard DeLoe, himself on the other side of the color line, who said recently "the problem of the twentieth century is the color line." Crowding events are thrusting this truth on us, every day more insistently. It is not merely the negro question at home. We can handle that, for the present, on the basis of deliberate injustice. It has been a maxim of human nature that two races could not dwell together, with justice to both. Fortunately, so far, the races have been able either to keep apart, or to come together under conditions where the stronger could impose its terms without the consent of the weaker. We have exterminated the Indian, excluded the Chinese and oppressed the negro. That is satisfactory to us, and the other side can not help itself. But now comes a new situation. Asia is full of races which we can not exterminate, and one at least of which refuses to be oppressed. And the progress of events has at last brought the European and the Asiatic into permanent contact. Even the inert Hindu mass is beginning to move, and the coolies of India are aspiring to emigrate to lands where wages are better. The Chinese will go wherever they are permitted, and the Japanese wherever they choose. And the Japanese will go on terms of equality with the white man. We must grant them justice and equality, if for no other reason than the evident fact that they are quite capable of taking these rights by force if we do not grant them by favor. The world-old treatment of the race problem comes to a short stop when we at last face a darker race able to maintain its own rights. For that race at least, a new basis must be found. Those of us who refuse to accept this conclusion, by the force of logic, may have to accept it by a stronger argument. Then comes the problem, which it may take the whole world a century to solve, how two races physically unassimilable, but in all other respects equal in ability and rights, can maintain political, personal and social, and prevent marital relations. Our whole past experience furnishes us no hint how to go at it, and our whole inherited instinct is against even trying to solve the problem. But we can not escape it, we can not balk it, and we can not apply to it any of the ready-made solutions we have inherited. We must simply face it, as an absolutely new problem in human relations. And when we have solved it with the Japanese, who are able to compel justice, we shall then perhaps know how to grant justice to the other races who can not compel it. But as yet, we do not even know what justice would be, if we were disposed to grant it.

We in California, of course, will insist on seeing the problem in a false perspective. We are too near to it, as the South is to the negro problem, to see it in its true proportions. But the problem is vastly bigger than we are, and it covers vastly more than the mere question how many Japanese coolies we shall tolerate in California. It is a world-question and a century-problem, for us, our children, and our children's children.

TO COMPLETE PLANTING FOR ROEDING PARK

Artificial Lake Will Be Reduced in Size for Practical Reasons.

The Park Commissioners and Johannes Reimers, the landscape gardener, visited Roeding park yesterday and discussed the planting for this season. The rest of the planting at Roeding park will be done this year, there being about twenty acres still to plant. Semi-tropical trees and shrubs will be set out. Practically all the deciduous planting has been done.

Some changes will be made in the plans for the artificial lake. It was originally proposed to devote fifteen acres to this; but for practical reasons the size of the lake will be reduced. This year a small lake will be made to experiment with clay to hold the water.

The commissioners are agreeable to setting aside five acres as a G. A. R. memorial plot, provided the planting is done under the direction of the commission, so as to be in accordance with the original design of the park.

It has also been decided to set Roeding park out this year to trees and grass. The commission raised the salary of Mr. Reimers from $35 to $40 a month for this monthly visits and superintendence of the parks.

MUNICIPAL CRIB RAIDED LAST NIGHT

After Police Captain Told Grand Jury He Had Been Instructed to Leave It Alone.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Police Captain Martin was before the grand jury this afternoon and was questioned why he had not closed the place of ill-repute on Jackson street known as the "municipal crib." This place contains about 150 women and before a fire several hundred women were housed there.

It is understood that Martin testified that he had been told by his superiors not to molest the place. He also said that he had not been able to secure the needed evidence against the resort.

PRODUCED THE BOAT IN WHICH GILLETTE ROWED GRACE BROWN

BARKINER, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The boat in which Chester Gillette and Grace Brown took the lake ride in Big Moose lake last July was introduced as evidence in the trial of Gillette here today. Something of a sensation was created by the testimony of Robert Morrison, who found the boat. Morrison said he found a quantity of hair clinging to one of the seats and removed some of it in the presence of witnesses. Other parts of the boat still remained in the boat.

M'NULTY'S ACQUITTAL

Grave Scandals Follow Upon the Queer Verdict.

Juror Admits He Thought the Defendant Guilty, But Was Coerced.

OAKLAND, Nov. 23.—Scandal of a grave character has grown out of the acquittal at the conclusion of his trial of Lester C. McNulty, whom Mrs. Dorothy Olsen of Berkeley accused of having tried to make an assault on her a year ago.

Deputy District Attorney Everett T. Brown, who presented the case, flatly says that he is convinced that there was crooked work done with the jury that tried McNulty and found him innocent of the charge. He says furthermore that he will file the matter to the bottom, and that if evidence warranting it is found he will bring criminal actions against those who have tampered with the law.

In this connection Brown gave for publication today a letter written to him by former Policeman David Swain, one of the jurors, on Oct. 27th, while the McNulty trial was in progress, and just before the election that resulted in the winning of the district attorneyship by Brown. The letter reads as follows:

"I tried Mr. Brown—I will drop you a few lines to let you know what I can do for you if you will help me a little. I can do more for you than you think. I can handle the negro in West Oakland. Not only that, I will tell you more; they are building a new county jail, and there will be a great many men to work on it about election time, and I am an uncle to the man that is building it. He says he will do all for me that I want. I did not like to speak to you on the street, for it would not look well on account of that case. Now, Mr. Brown, I do not want to log anything. When I went out of the police department there was a little patch on my nose, but I think it will come out all right with a little help. I have got to meet the small time on Tuesday. It is $750. I have got $100 on hand. I think what I can do for you will amount to a great deal. Yours truly,

D. W. SWAIN."

Perfect Changed His Mind.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—The Constitutional Democrats are perplexed by the action of Prefect of Police Von Launitz, who, under a hint from a higher authority, dispersed the meeting of Constitutional Democrats set for today, which he himself had duly sanctioned.

Dropped Dead in San Jose.

SAN JOSE, Nov. 23.—Alonso B. Hamilton, a prominent contractor and plumber citizen of this place, dropped dead this evening of heart disease while talking to friends. He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Charles W. Chapin and Mrs. Emil Horgan of San Francisco and Mrs. George Smith of San Jose.

UNIVERSITY SCIENTIST COMING TO FRESNO

Series of Agricultural Lectures to Begin Here Day After Christmas.

BERKELEY, Nov. 23.—Announcement has been made at the university of the program of the short course of lectures to be given by the agricultural department in Fresno, Los Angeles and Sacramento during the next three months.

In planning a series of lectures for students throughout the state, given outside of the state university buildings at Berkeley, the faculty of the agricultural department has started a new era in the development of instruction in California.

SECRETARY ROOT AT CINCINNATI

South American Trade, Panama Canal and the Anti-Japanese Feeling His Topics.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 23.—Increased commerce with the countries of South America and moral support of the Panama canal construction work, were advocated by Secretary of State Root tonight in an address at the twenty-sixth annual dinner of the Cincinnati Commercial club. Root made much the same argument as he did in his address before the Trans-Mississippi congress at Kansas last Tuesday night.

"We will," he said, "get the Panama canal built inside of ten years, and the route from New York, Norfolk, Savannah, Charleston, Mobile, New Orleans, through the canal and up the coast to San Francisco, becomes the coast line of the United States."

"We know the possibilities and difficulties of trade with European countries and the Orient, but few people realize how serious is the present agitation against the Japanese on the Pacific coast. If it goes on, trade on the coast will be most seriously injured."

SAN FRANCISCO HEARS GOOD NEWS

Espee Can Build Across the Bay—Will Electrify San Jose Railway.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Two important railroad announcements were made today.

One was that the war department had given permission to the Southern Pacific company to build across the bay at Dunbar Point. This means that San Francisco will be placed on the mainland commercially.

The other announcement was that the Southern Pacific, in addition to the conversion of the Alameda lines from steam into electric roads, would electrify the line forty-six miles in length, from Oakland to San Jose via Milpitas.

HUSBAND'S FRIEND WAS WIFE'S ENEMY

Ex-Senator Rice's Daughter Makes Charges Against an ex-Congressman.

OMAHA, Nov. 23.—Charles C. Bassett's suit for divorce against his wife, Fannie Rice Bassett, a daughter of ex-United States Senator Rice of Arkansas, will come up for hearing in Washington next week. Mrs. Bassett's suit for a separation from her husband cannot come to trial till next month.

Mrs. Bassett desired that her suit be heard first, but her husband has outwitted her.

Mrs. Bassett's friends here denounce ex-Congressman Fairchild of New York as the instigator of her husband's attacks upon her, and assert that had it not been for Fairchild, Bassett would have allowed Mrs. Bassett to get a divorce by default here.

Judge Baxter, Mrs. Bassett's attorney, declared Fairchild had a grudge against Mrs. Bassett, growing out of an incident that happened just after her marriage. On account of this grudge, it is claimed, he has taken a vindictive interest in this case, to "get even" with her.

Mrs. Bassett charges that, during her honeymoon, Fairchild, who was a close friend of her husband and was at their home, frequently grossly insulted her, and repeated the offense later. She remonstrated with him for his action, and refused to have anything to do with him afterwards.

Her husband, it is asserted, tried to smooth over the incident, because he was seeking promotion in the public service, and Fairchild was an influential man.

Since then, it is said, Fairchild has frequently shown his hatred for her, and on one occasion assisted Bassett in the alleged attempt to kidnap one of the children from her at Atlantic City.

In one of the depositions by Mrs. Bassett she declares Fairchild has offered all his wealth in order to prevent her from keeping her children. He has acted as a representative of Bassett in attempts which were made before the filing of the divorce suit to settle the differences between the husband and wife out of court.

It was through him a proposition was made in Mrs. Bassett to the effect that Bassett would not fight her divorce suit if she would consent to have the four other children placed in the custody of some person to be agreed upon. This Mrs. Bassett refused to consent to, and it is said no other attempt has been made since to settle the case.

HIGHER PRICES THAN KEARNEY EVER MADE

We observed recently a remark in a California trade paper, to the effect that it would have done Kearney's heart good if he had lived to see raisins advance to the price they have reached this season. We could not ourselves see the point of that, since any reflection upon the fact in question must have been uncomplimentary to Mr. Kearney's intelligence, the present season without any artificial assistance to higher prices than he was ever able to raise them to by his costly and elaborate system of operation, of which, besides being very expensive, occasioned, as everybody knows,

JUST A WORD AT THIS SEASON

We believe that each of you is interested in building up a large city here in FRESNO.

Such a city here means a greater development to the whole San Joaquin Valley. This is to the interest of every smaller town in the valley.

Local pride and patronage built Los Angeles. The same forces will make, in fact are making, FRESNO.

Now just one selfish word for ourselves, as well as other local dealers. In the pre-Christmas flood of Eastern and outside catalogues of jewelry, etc., we make the statement that it pays you to deal at home IF YOU CAN DO AS WELL.

We personally ask the opportunity to show you that we can do as well (or better).

We have the means and ability to accomplish your jewelry and silver wants as well as any house in California—no matter what those wants may be.

A cordial welcome is extended to strangers to inspect our wares.

BELIEVES HE CAN CALL DEAD TO LIFE

Iowa Man Attends Funerals and Commands Corpses to Rise—But They Don't.

WEBSTER CITY, Ia., Nov. 23.—A stranger with a mania for attending funerals is haunting the northern part of this county, his mania taking the form of believing that he can raise the dead by linking their hands and commanding them to come to life.

He has suddenly appeared at half a dozen funerals within a week, and has scared the mourners out of their wits. Yesterday he stalked into the house where the funeral of James McDonald was being held. Before he could be prevented, he grasped the hands of the dead man and commanded him to rise.

Several women mourners fainted. The corpse escaped in the confusion.

Mrs. Gunner—It is queer how remarkably good the children have been since we returned from Cairo.

Mr. Gunner—Oh, they are wise.

Mrs. Gunner—Wise to what?

Mr. Gunner—To the fact that I brought back a collection of hard Egyptian sandals.

Fair Saturday; heavy frost in the morning.The low pressure over the Lake region and New England yesterday has been displaced by an extensive area of high pressure extending from British Columbia to the South Atlantic coast. Light snow has fallen on the borders of Lake Superior. Also in New England and a portion of the Lower Lake region. Fair, seasonable weather prevail over the South Atlantic and Gulf states, and a severe cold wave is moving eastward, with its center this morning over the North Rocky mountains. The temperature is below the freezing point over most of the country, west of the Mississippi river, and it has dropped to zero over Montana and a portion of North Dakota. The storm central over the valley of the Colorado yesterday has remained nearly stationary, causing light rains over Southern California, Arizona, Utah and Western Texas, and light snow over a portion of the Rocky mountain districts. BURLEIGH'S ROAD BILLS ARE PAID IN PART

Supervisors Pass Them Up to 70 Per Cent Limit—Beall Openly Charges that they Were Campaign Expenditures.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday allowed seventy-five of the bills turned in from Supervisor Burleigh's district for work upon the roads of the district during the last two months. The total amount of the bills allowed yesterday is $273,773. The bills were allowed by the county law-makers only after obtaining a written opinion from Deputy District Attorney Kauke that the bills are legal claims against the county.

When informed last night that the supervisors had allowed some of the Burleigh bills, Foreman Phillips of the grand jury stated that that body would call for the bills in question and make an investigation. He intimated that a fund would be raised by the taxpayers' league to prosecute the guilty men if any fraud had been committed in this transaction. Mr. Phillips also intimated that indictments might follow the deliberations of the county inquisitorial body.

District Attorney's Opinion.
The matter came up for consideration when the opinion of the district attorney's office was read by the clerk. The opinion, which was read yesterday afternoon, states that the bills are legally incurred and puts it up to the board to ascertain whether or not the work for which the bills were presented was actually done on the roads of Burleigh's district. The opinion follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of the County of Fresno:
Gentlemen:—In response to your request for an opinion as to the amount of allowance which may be made from time to time out of the funds of a road district, I will call your attention to Section 30 of the County Government Act, which in part reads as follows: "Up to and including the 1st day of January in each fiscal year the board shall have no power for any purpose to contract debts or liabilities in any manner or for any purpose not to make any allowance against any funds which with all the debts and liabilities previously incurred and with all allowances previously made, and salaries and liabilities fixed by law payable therefrom, shall exceed 70 per cent of the auditor's estimate of revenue for the year, except to build or repair roads and bridges which have been destroyed or made impassable by flood or fire. Any debts or liabilities contracted in any manner or for any purpose and any allowance made contrary to the provisions of this section shall be null and void and the auditor shall not draw his warrant therefor nor the treasurer pay the same."

I know of no other limitation in this respect on the amount of expenditures and allowances (except the general provision contained in Section 18 of Article XI of the constitution), and am of the opinion that claims and demands, which are otherwise legal and valid, may be allowed and ordered paid by the board, in the order in which the same were incurred, up to the amount designated, viz: claims and demands which with all the debts and liabilities previously incurred and with all allowances previously made against the funds of such road district, will not exceed 70 per cent of the auditor's estimate of such funds for the fiscal year.

Where there are claims and demands exceeding, in the aggregate, this limitation (provided such claims would otherwise be legal, valid and payable out of such funds), it is my opinion that the board should ascertain from such sources and means as it has at its command which claims and demands were legally incurred, that is, to say, which ones were incurred at a time when the 70 per cent limit for debts and allowances had not yet been reached.

It seems that to build or repair roads and bridges which have been destroyed or made impassable by flood or fire, liabilities may be incurred and allowance made, prior to the 1st day of January, if it becomes necessary, in excess of 70 per cent of the auditor's estimate, keeping, however, at all times within the income and revenues for the fiscal year. But I think the law contemplates that this remaining 30 per cent of the year's revenue shall not be encroached upon or prior to January 1st unless the board finds and determines, either before or at the time the contract is let or the work or supplies ordered, or at some time prior to the allowing of the claim or demand, that such claim or demand is or was in fact one properly incurred for building or repairing roads and bridges which had been destroyed or made impassable by flood or fire, and therefore within the designated exception or provision of the law. Respectfully submitted, GEO. W. JONES, District Attorney.

By Frank Kauke, deputy district attorney.

As the bills are paid of them, it is impossible to tell whether or not they are genuine, and the board agreed to simply allow a number of the bills which would aggregate approximately the amount that Burleigh is allowed by law to spend before the first of the year, which is 70 per cent of the road fund for his district.

What Burleigh Could Spend.
From the figures in the auditor's office, Burleigh still had, before yesterday's bills were allowed, $433,386.44 to spend before he would have reached the limit of 70 per cent which the law allows him to spend out of his road fund before the first of the year. This leaves $658,133 more to be expended out of Burleigh's road fund and there are bills filed with the supervisors that will total $4000 with November and December bills yet to be heard from.

Taking the ratio between the assessed valuation of the county and the assessed valuation of Burleigh's district as a basis for figuring, the supervisor from the first would have $282,550 to spend out of the general road fund before he 70 per cent of that fund has been reached.

This would place Burleigh $7336.44 to spend exceeding what was allowed yesterday; provided the board should allow him to touch the general road fund, which the law states can only be used in cases of emergency. But the bills turned in from Burleigh's district amount to a greater sum than this, with the last two months in the year yet to be heard from.

his road fund and the bills allowed were a beginning on this figure.

Not all the bills allowed were itemized and when they were looked over by the supervisors, they met with protest in almost every case. "I know that $7000 was not spent on the roads of the first district during the past few months," said Supervisor Beall, "and it is a shame for this board to allow those bills, which are nothing more or less than campaign expenses."

"Look here, Burleigh," a supervisor would say, "Where did this man work? It says simply road work."

"I don't know," Burleigh would reply in a heated manner.

The road fight will come when Burleigh attempts to get bills allowed after his 70 per cent of the road fund has been exhausted. The law says that money expended after the 70 per cent allowance is reached shall be spent for emergency purposes. It is thought that Burleigh will attempt to get the supervisors to transfer the $282,550 still unexpended in his portion of the general road fund to the road fund of his district, but whether the supervisors will accede to this request or not is an open question. If this were done, it would leave Supervisor-elect Jorgensen without a cent to spend on the roads of his district for six months. But even if this money should be transferred to Burleigh's road fund, there will still not be enough money to pay all the bills that have come in and there are two months' bills yet to be heard from.

The members of the Board of Supervisors are not inclined to believe that the money spent in Burleigh's district was spent for any emergency other than the recent election and what they will do when Burleigh has reached his 70 per cent of the regular road fund for his district will be watched by all taxpayers with great interest.

Phillips Certain of Graft.
When informed last night that the supervisors had passed some of Burleigh's notorious bills, Foreman Phillips of the grand jury said that that body would call on the auditor for the bills and make an investigation of the legality of the bills. It is found that there is any question as to the genuineness of any bill, the taxpayers' league will be called upon to furnish a fund for the looking up of evidence that may lead to indictments of several persons who, it is alleged, have turned in bills for work that they did not do.

"This sort of thing is very hard to get at," said Mr. Phillips last night. "As I understand it, the bills are not itemized and it is almost impossible to get any evidence of fraud in any particular instance. Of course, if anyone knows that the county has been defrauded in any instance by the bills paid today, it is his duty to appear before the grand jury and let us know the facts. But if we can get on the trail of any fraud, I shall call upon the officials of the taxpayers' league to furnish the funds with which to make a thorough investigation of the changes that have been so frequently made in the last few weeks about these bills, and I guarantee that I will not let a guilty man go free. The matter will be thoroughly gone into. In San Francisco they have a fund raised by a few public-spirited citizens and detectives have been employed to ferret out the graft. I am certain that if we can get the money to investigate it, we may have some indictments here."

SELMA HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Robert Dole and Mrs. Bales
Thrown from Buggy.

SELMA, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Robert Dole was severely injured in a runaway accident this afternoon while driving into town with her mother, Mrs. Bales. The ladies had reached the vicinity of the High school when their horse became frightened at an automobile standing in the road and in its dash to get away the rig was run into a telephone pole and both ladies were thrown to the ground. Mrs. Bales was not seriously injured, but for a while Mrs. Dole's condition was considered to be serious. The injured woman was given prompt medical attention and her physician reports that Mrs. Dole is not as badly injured as at first supposed. She was stunned by the fall and considerably bruised and shaken up. The rig was but little damaged.

R. F. Stewart returned from San Francisco last evening after a vain search for his runaway boy, 14 years old, who, it is claimed, was confined from home by Roscoe Morris. Stewart got trace of his boy, but was unable to locate him in the big city. The parents of the lad are much concerned over his escapade and Mr. Stewart will return to the city in a few days in an effort to find the wandering boy. A warrant charging Morris with kidnapping has been sworn to by the younger lad's father, Morris and the boy went to San Francisco together.

W. T. Tonia, said to be a resident of Modesto, endeavored to skip out today without settling his livery account with Jesse Durham. He was captured at Fowler by Constable Mason and returned to Selma, where he was held before Justice Tucker and given an opportunity to pay the bill and also $5 court costs. Tonia had been in Selma during the peaking season and upon his departure this morning gave Durham and the Selma officers, who were looking for him, the slip.

The city trustees have decided to put in a number of electric lights on the streets and the location of the lights is now under consideration.

Selma Hebrew lodge will give a box social and dance at the I. O. O. F. hall on Nov. 30th.

Rev. S. C. Nielson is here from McMinnville, Ore., looking after his farming interests.

J. R. Hickman, treasurer-elect, is preparing to move to the county seat, having advertised his 160-acre ranch and dairy cattle for sale.

C. H. VanHorn has subdivided his ranch southwest of town into ten and twenty-acre tracts, which he will sell to home-seekers.

APPROVE OF ALMSHOUSE

Grand Jury Warns Supervisors
Against "Extras."

Inquisitorial Body Looking Into Personal Property Assessments.

After spending the entire day in a minute examination of the plans before the supervisors for the construction of the proposed almshouse, the grand jury yesterday announced their approval of the project and through their foreman, W. W. Phillips, officially warned the supervisors not to exceed the limit of $30,000 provided for in the taxlevy for the almshouse.

The members of the grand jury expressed the opinion that from what they had seen in their visit to the county poorfarm day before yesterday there is a great need of an almshouse in this county and that if the structure would not cost the county several times what the specifications called for it will be a good thing for this county.

In reporting the result of the day's investigations to the supervisors yesterday afternoon, Foreman Phillips said: "The grand jury fully approves of the idea of building an almshouse, but we warn you, however, to keep within the limit of the amount set aside by this board for the building and to see to it that there will not be bills of extras so that the cost will not exceed $30,000. We have examined the plans and any action that you may take in regard to their acceptance will meet with the approval of the grand jury. We have a preference as to plans, but will not express that unless this board desires."

Architects Swartz and Matthews, whose plans for the almshouse are under consideration by the supervisors, were the two witnesses examined by the grand jury yesterday. Their testimony was informal and was simply an explanation of their plans.

District Attorney Jones was in consultation with the grand jury yesterday afternoon in an effort that is being made by the body to correct some of the evils of the method of assessing personal property. Just what will be done is being kept secret by the grand jurors, but it is thought that the evils of the present system allowing the assessor a commission for all personal property taxes collected by his office is the point under discussion. The last equity government act, which has since been declared unconstitutional, eliminated these evils by doing away with the assessor's commission for personal property taxes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Practically the whole world is looking for American wood on its products, says the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor in a statement issued today.

The exports of this character have increased 33 per cent during the nine months of the present year over last year. During this nine months the value of these exports was $50,000,000. This total is raised to $61,000,000 by adding to shipments from American ports to contiguous territory. Ten years ago the total value of exports of this class was $32,000,000. The bulk of the exports is classed as boards, planks and sawing, and the next large item is furniture.

TRANS-MISSISSIPPI CONGRESS

HELD CONCLUDING SESSIONS

New Officers Were Elected and Many Matters Passed Upon

REPORT OF RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE, DEALING WITH NEARLY ALL THE SUBJECTS DISCUSSED DURING THE WEEK, WAS ADOPTED—BRYAN'S RESOLUTIONS ALSO WERE ACCEPTED BY THE CONGRESS.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 23.—The trans-Mississippi congress adjourned this morning as a non-partisan issue. The new officers are: President, Col. H. D. Loveland, San Francisco. First vice president, L. Bradford Prince, Santa Fe, N. M. Second vice president, N. G. Larimore, Larimore, N. D. Third vice president, C. A. Fellows, Topeka, Kan. Fourth vice president, J. F. Callbreath, Denver, Colo. Secretary, Arthur P. Francisco, Cripple Creek, Colo.

The congress voted to hold its next gathering in 1907 at Muskogee, L. P. Denver, one of the leading congresses, moved to make the vote for Muskogee unanimous. This was done.

San Francisco Defended.
 John P. Irish, in presenting the claims of San Francisco for the honor of entertaining next year's congress, denied with vigor the truth of the accusation recently applied to San Francisco, that of "a city of graft."

"Never one mill of the thousands of dollars contributed for the relief of the sufferers of our recent disaster," declared he, "was diverted. I deny with an air of which I am capable the truth of the stories printed in Eastern papers regarding alleged graft in distribution of this fund. Such stories are slanders upon the fair name of San Francisco."

Bryan's Resolutions Adopted.
 The resolutions committee in session this morning voted down the two resolutions submitted to the congress last night by William J. Bryan, but they were adopted by the congress at the afternoon session.

The first of these resolutions favored the endorsement by the congress of a resolution adopted by the inter-parliamentary union at the London session in favor of the settling of international questions impartially by a court or commission of investigation before declaration of war or the opening of hostilities by any country.

The second resolution placed the congress on record as being opposed to private monopolies and, believing them "indispensable and inevitable," favored the enforcement of existing laws and the enactment of such new laws as may be necessary to protect industry from the menace offered by the trusts.

Resolutions Reported.
 The report of the resolutions as presented by the congress at the afternoon session is as follows:

Relations With South America.
 Our trade relations with South America and the cultivation of a better understanding and acquaintance with the people of our sister republics have justly claimed the attention of this congress. To the secretary of our own country, and to the representatives of the other nations, who honored us by their presence, we extend assurances of our profound respect and warmest hope that they will work for closer relations between all of the countries of the Western hemisphere, and that the mutual regard and confidence now existing may increase as the years pass by.

We realize the value of our friendly intercourse. The trans-Mississippi congress is especially interested in encouraging all efforts to bring about the increase of commercial transactions as the surest and best way of establishing the intimate friendly relations that should exist between us. To promote such relations, we endorse the resolutions submitted by Secretary Moore and encourage our merchant marine and for increasing our intercourse with South America by adequate mail facilities.

The Monroe Doctrine.
 We renew and emphasize our approval of the devotion to the Monroe doctrine as enunciated by its author, James Monroe, in 1823, when president of the United States, and as reiterated by Grover Cleveland in his Venezuelan message of 1895, and his Latin American message of 1898, and his Latin American message of 1901, and his Latin American message of 1904.

The interpretation of the Monroe doctrine by the trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress is that the people of the United States are unalterably opposed to any European government acquiring any additional territory or jurisdiction in the Western hemisphere.

The Merchant Marine.
 We reaffirm our previous action favoring the upbuilding of an American merchant marine, especially in view of the necessity of fostering commerce and inter-communication with Central and South America. We advise that the two parties in congress consider the creation of an American merchant marine as a non-partisan issue.

We again earnestly urge such a thorough organization of our consular system as to secure the most efficient service to our business interests, and we believe that this can best be accomplished by having appointments based upon experience, ability and character, unbiased by any political consideration, thus insuring the efficiency which is only attained by experience. We request the congress of the United States to enact into law the executive order on this subject.

Intercontinental Railroad.
 We favor the construction of an intercontinental railroad between the United States and South America. Canals, Rivers and Harbors.

We emphatically approve and endorse the earnest effort now being made to obtain necessary aid and support from the national government for the branches of this project, which holds so much in store of value and benefit to the whole trans-Mississippi empire. We commend to the national rivers and harbors congress and adopt as ours its slogan—an annual appropriation of at least $50,000,000 to be expended in the furtherance of this highly important work. We trust there may be a large and representative attendance of our members at the sessions of that congress, to be held in Washington, D. C., December 8 and 9, 1906.

We heartily endorse the report and recommendations unanimously adopted by the Mississippi Valley Lake-to-Lake, the Gulf-Deep Waterways convention, held November 6, 1906.

We also favor the improvement and development of the principal rivers of the trans-Mississippi region so that such natural channels of trade as the Missouri, Arkansas, Red, Columbia, Snake, Sacramento, San Joaquin, Trinity, Brazos and other great rivers may be made adequate and economical channels of transportation for the products of the people. These objects are of such vast and far-reaching importance that we earnestly urge upon the congress of the United States early and favorable consideration of these vital questions to the end that the trans-Mississippi country may be prepared to reap the full benefits that may come to us in the new commercial era to be ushered in by the opening of the Panama canal.

We favor liberal appropriations under continuing contracts by the federal government for the improvement of the harbors of the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific coast so that they may speedily have a uniform depth of not less than thirty-five feet of water at mean low tide with a width and extension commensurate with their rapidly growing importance.

We heartily endorse the proposed intercontinental canal, nine feet in depth and about 500 miles in length, from the Mississippi river to the Rio Grande as one of the most beneficial waterway improvements in the Union.

Elastic Currency.
 We are of the opinion that a large measure calculated to introduce into the financial system of the country the element of flexibility of currency should receive early and earnest consideration by the United States congress, having in view always the security, safety and value of such currency at par with gold.

We favor the best sugar industry and recommend to the United States congress that no legislation antagonistic to its future development be enacted.

This congress at its sixteenth session recommended the location of a naval station on the southern coast of California, near the Mexican border, but as yet the national congress has not taken any action regarding this important matter. Since the passage of the resolution, Admiral Goodrich and other prominent naval officials have publicly advocated the location of such a naval station in the harbor of San Diego gulf; we, therefore, again respectfully request that a naval station and also a coaling station be located at San Diego, Cal., and that the necessary funds be appropriated for this purpose.

Agriculture.
 We commend most heartily the disposition of the congress of the United States in fostering the work of the federal department of agriculture.

We express the sincere belief that no other feature of the work of our government meets with more general approval of the whole people than this department under the guidance of its able head, the secretary of agriculture. He is ransacking the earth for facts and bringing to the varied conditions of our vast country the results of researches of all times and climes, introducing new, rare and valuable plants and greatly augmenting the permanent production of the wealth of the country.

He is eliminating the semi-arid belt by selection of plants to be grown, by the introduction of methods adapted to existing conditions and by the encouragement of industries that thrive.

We especially call attention to the growth of the sugar industry. Under the present administration, and largely through the secretaries, the trans-Mississippi section of the United States produces in sugar an amount equal to 117 per cent of its consumption.

The drainage of the swamp and overflowed lands of the United States will land to our production territory, improve health and benefit commerce, increasing new, rare and valuable plants and greatly augmenting the permanent production of the wealth of the country.

We endorse the drainage operations and surveys now being carried on by the United States department of agriculture and advise their extension.

Live Stock.
 We recommend the encouragement of increased facilities for the transportation of live stock to market, and that the government aid the live stock industry by extending the foreign markets for its products and by scientific attention to the diseases to which flocks and herds are subject.

Mines and Mining.
 The mining industry of the United States has grown to vast proportions and importance, now exceeding a billion and a half dollars of annual product, and is capable of still greater extension if encouraged by the government, as agricultural industry has been fostered. We heartily favor the establishment by act of congress of a national department of mines and mining.

It is the sense of the congress that the surface of the 445,000 acres of segregated coal and asphalt lands in the Indian territory should be sold in tracts of 100 acres, on long time, with annual payments therefor, and the moneys arising therefrom should be paid to the Indians entitled thereto.

The coal and asphalt in said lands should be leased in tracts not to exceed 990 acres, and the royalties paid should become a permanent school fund for the use of the state of Oklahoma.

Expositions.
 We recommend a suitable appropriation to be made by congress to further the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition that will be held in the city of Seattle beginning June 1, 1906.

In order to promote the friendly rivalry of states in progress and development, we favor state celebrations marking the 50th and 100th anniversaries of the admission of each state into the Union, and when such celebrations are held, we recommend that on each occasion the national government take part, giving an exhibition of national progress and development.

Statehood for New Mexico.
 The fundamental principle of American republicanism is that of self-government and no body of American citizens should be deprived of that right. The citizens of New Mexico should no longer be deprived of self-government. That territory should be admitted as a state whenever it adopts a suitable constitution and applies for such admission.

Resolutions Adopted.
 The resolutions as presented were adopted by the congress this afternoon. Representative John Stephens of Texas introduced a resolution regarding the proposed Arizona, similar to that presented in the resolutions committee's report affecting New Mexico. Stephens' resolution was adopted.

After heated debate, the congress finally adopted the two resolutions presented by W. J. Bryan and voted down this morning in committee meeting.

POLYGAMOUS

SMITH FINED

Leader of Mormon Church to Pay $300.

Birth of Forty-third Child By Fifth Wife the Cause—His Statement.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 23.—Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, this afternoon appeared before Judge Ritchie, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawful cohabitation and a fine of $300 was imposed.

Earlier in the day counsel for President Smith secured a transfer of the case from the criminal division of the court, where Judge Armstrong presided, to Judge Ritchie's division. After the noon recess, when the courtroom was practically deserted, President Smith went before Judge Ritchie and entered his plea and the fine was imposed.

How the Case Arose.
 The charge under which the Mormon leader was arrested and fined was made by Charles Morley Owen, who has been active in a crusade against the Mormon authorities. The charge was based on the recent birth of President Smith's forty-third child, born to his fifth wife.

President Smith's Statement.
 President Smith, in a personal address to the court, stated that his last marriage was in 1884. All his marriages, he said, were entered into with the sanction of his church, and as they believed, with the approval of the Lord. According to his faith and the law of the church, they were eternal in duration.

"In the tacit general understanding that was had in 1890 and the years subsequent thereto, regarding what were classed as the old cases of cohabitation, I have appreciated the magnanimity of the American people in not enforcing a policy that in their minds was unavowedly harsh, but which assigned the settlement of this difficult problem to the onward progress of time."

Polygamy Ceasing to Exist.
 "Since the year 1890 a very large percentage of the polygamous families have ceased to exist, until now the number within the jurisdiction of this court is very small and marriages in violation have been, and are now, prohibited. In view of this situation, which has fixed with certainty a result that can be easily measured up, the family relations in the old cases of that time have been generally left undisturbed."

So far as my own case is concerned, I like others who had entered into solemn religious obligations, sought to the best of my ability to comply with all requirements pertaining to the position in which we were placed. I have felt secure in the protection of that magnanimous sentiment which was extended as an olive branch in 1890 and subsequent years to those old cases of plural family relationships which came within its purview, as did mine.

Remained True to Wives.
 "When I accepted the marriage test imposed by President Wilford Woodruff I did not understand that I would be expected to abandon and disavow my wives. Knowing the sacred covenants and obligations which I had assumed by reason of these marriages, I have conscientiously tried to discharge the responsibilities attending them, without being offensive to anyone."

"I have never flouted my family relations before the public, nor have I felt a spirit of defiance against the law, but, on the contrary, I have always desired to be a law-abiding citizen. In considering the trying situation in which I have been placed, I trust that your honor will exercise such leniency in your verdict as law and justice will permit."

Judge Ritchie imposed the maximum fine, but omitted the jail sentence of one day to six months' imprisonment, which he might have imposed under the statute.

Dyspepsia and Constipation.

BRADSTREET'S

SUMMARY

Trade Is Active in Nearly Every Line.

Car Shortage Continues to Hamper Transportation of the Country.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Bradstreet's summary for the week ending Nov. 22nd shows: Though checked in some sections by irregular weather conditions, trade is active as a whole. Holiday demand is opening up earlier than usual, industry in nearly all lines is still pushed to the limit of production, and little relief from the prevailing car congestion is yet apparent, despite the fact that the movement of certain crops to market is smaller than usual at this season.

The grain market displayed fair steadiness with few fluctuations on light movement from the producing centers, part of which is attributed to the car congestion. The feeding grows, however, that the milling wheat production in the Northwest has been overestimated.

Hides are scarce and high, and leather prices tend upward. Building is rather quiet and materials are not very active, although lumber is in fair request.

Raw and refined sugar is quiet and unchanged here, but the prices on the Pacific coast are a quarter cent lower on the break out of another sugar war. Sympathetic weakness is shown at New Orleans and as far East generally as the Mississippi river.

Copper is firm and demand for electrolytic for shipment in December is heavy.

Business failures in the United States for the week ending Nov. 22nd number 212, against 229 last week and 221 in the 12 weeks last year. Failures in Canada number 27, against 31 last week and 40 in this week a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending Nov. 22nd (San Francisco, Tacoma and Seattle missing last week, owing to wire trouble, including for two weeks) aggregating 4,023,073 bushels, against 3,743,331 bushels last week, and 3,538,068 this week last year. For the past twenty-one weeks of the fiscal year the exports are 14,570,084 bushels, against 14,971,555 in 1905.

GREGORY & CO.,

Fresno, Cal.

DEAR SIR:—Last year, after my Thanksgiving dinner, I rode one of your Big Four wheels, belonging to a friend and experienced none of effects that follow such feasts.

As I got four cents for my raisins this season I don't have to borrow a wheel and therefore enclose check for one of your Big Four. I don't care which. I heartily recommend bicycle riding for indigestion, rheumatism, paralysis, appendicitis and boils.

Yours gratefully,
 JOSHUA STUFFER.

ABOUT THANKSGIVING TIME

A nice carriage will come in useful winter is still far enough off to keep the weather pleasant, with just enough frost in the air to make it bracing. Owing to the lateness of the season we can offer you special inducements in measure vehicles. The reputation for a high standard of excellence for our carriages makes it unnecessary to state that they are regarded as the most stylish and best built.

SOCIAL AND CLUB NEWS

Such a bewildering array of new gowns and bouquets as loomed up last night all about the banquet and the boxes and loges. All the socially elect were out in full force to applaud the "Widow" with her new gown and champagne and shout for the big athletic football hero who had made his father but was out in the end. There were a lot of jolly little parties and the audience as a whole was having a splendid time enjoying the bright things in the play and talking about them between acts. In a right hand box were seen Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Patterson with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hudson. Mrs. Patterson looked unusually charming in a stunning pale blue suit with hat to match and ermine muff and scarf. Mrs. Hudson wore a pale blue gown in a soft shade with a pale blue hat, the combination of pastel shades being as daring as it was artistic. Dr. and Mrs. T. N. Sample had guests with them in a loge. Another party included Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Swift and Mr. and Mrs. George Monroe. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Phillips with their guest, Miss Dorey. Mrs. W. J. Cleary and Miss Emma Rogers of San Francisco were in another loge. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Saunders with Miss Adele Baker and Z. T. Cornwall of London occupied an upper box. All through the banquet there were numerous small parties, many of whom found pleasure later in a little supper at the various cafes.

Miss Laura Marshall, teacher of drawing in the public schools, is giving a most interesting art exhibit of her water color drawings at her home, 144 O Street. In the rooms which are lavishly decked with chrysanthemums the pictures are arranged advantageously and during the reception hours yesterday afternoon and evening there were a number of visitors who came to admire the work of this clever artist. There were not a few Pacific Grove seagulls, Catalina and Los Angeles, also some hummingbird studies, particularly a elegant one which was greatly appreciated. These with a few Miss Marshall's sketches constitute this artistic little exhibition. Miss Marshall, besides her water color work, has had much success as a designer of book covers. Much of her work has been accepted by well known Eastern magazines for which she has made cover designs. She has designed the cover for the program of the coming State Teachers' association, which is exceedingly artistic and appropriate. The exhibit will continue today from 10 until and in the evening from 7 till 9.

Friday night is frolic night at the Young Woman's Christian association, and last night women from three of the big downtown stores of the city, who came in response to a cordial invitation extended by the young women of the Outing and Study club. It was by no means a formal party, but simply a jolly evening's fun among a congenial party of girls who widened the home circle to include a number of friends who, perhaps, are strangers in town, and in their busy lives find little time for a real home party such as the girls of the association know so well how to give, sharing their own pleasant quarters with others as blessed with such a pleasant home. For it certainly is a fact that Fresno is sadly lacking in comfortable rooming quarters for people in moderate circumstances, and the young women of the association are wonderfully pleased in having such a delightful place that is really home to them. It is to be hoped that the day is not far distant when the new association will be a reality and a big enough place to accommodate all who would appreciate the blessing of such a pleasant shelter.

Under the leadership of Miss Eleanor Eds, who is chairman of the social committee, the evening's enjoyment progressed merrily, the others on the committee, including Miss Mortimer Lamkin, Miss Annie Nelson, Miss Lucy Walker, Miss Annie Stewart, Miss Isabel Redfield, and Miss Agnes Hersey, all of whom made it their especial business to see that the guests all knew each other and were well entertained. Games of various kinds broke the line of formality and put everyone on friendly terms, and during the evening some dainty refreshments were served. It was an exceedingly happy affair and was enjoyed by thirty or forty young women.

Sixteen young people were pleasantly entertained on Thursday evening at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Beall. The interior of the house was attractively festooned with garlands of red hearts, making the room very gay. At the end of each garland was a large heart with the names of a couple and table on it, and the guests by unwinding the garland found out who was to be the guest of honor of the evening. Miss Jessie Burdham and Willard Grove were the successful prize winners. With music and refreshments the delightful affair was concluded.

Mrs. Chisholm's, 812 of Los Angeles is the guest for a few weeks of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hickman have as their guests, at their ranch near Selma, Mrs. Wiley of San Francisco. She will be in Fresno next week, visiting the families of Dr. H. J. and S. F. G.

The latest accomplishment of the dauntless band of workers who call themselves the Ergatic circle of St. Paul's M. E. church is the establishment of a real success home for the poor. The young ladies have set up a factory for the manufacture of black sixteen overalls, to supply wholesale trade, which was cut off from its usual supply of these necessary articles by the burning of the factory in San Francisco. The knowledge came to the Ergatics that there was something to be done in this line, and they abandoned all thoughts for a banquet or anything else to take up this work, seeing just ahead. So they have actually taken this contract for making 75 dozens of these interesting but wholly necessary articles of dress goods for the sake of seeing their beloved poor organ out of debt. Talk about courage! It actually would take the courage of a hero to tackle 75 dozen pairs of black sixteen overalls and even hope to see daylight from under them. Anyon but the Ergatics would give up in despair, but they have divided the order into small circles of three or four, who meet around at different homes several days in the week and make sleeves at 10 and end of a few weeks they will be just $20 ahead with very little work, as they count work and loss of measure little social afternoon. Mrs. J. E. Armstrong entertained the circle on Tuesday of this week.

The Madison club was entertained at its regular all-day session yesterday with Mrs. A. B. Evans on North J Street. Mrs. Evans is not of the Mad-

AN INTELLECTUAL YOUNG GRADUATE AND A DEBUTANTE

The late Maurice Barrymore told a capital story one evening. It has gone the rounds more or less since then, but I have never seen it in print. "A society ball goes to her first big party. It is a gorgeous social event, and she is all fluttering with excitement. The star of this big party is a young man recently returned from a long trip abroad after completing his course at Harvard. He is very handsome, very brilliant, very rich. All the young women are overwhelmingly interested. The brilliant young man meets the little debutante, and falls head over heels in love. He dances with her repeatedly, and then asks if he may call. The girl, very much agitated, says that she will ask her mamma. Mother, equally agitated, tells her daughter to say to the young man that they will be delighted to have him call; and he says that he will drop in on the following Thursday evening. The society ball goes home, her head whirling with the excitement of her first flirtation and the anticipation of a call from the real catch of the season. Next day she seeks out some of her girl friends. "Just think, he's coming to call next Thursday evening," she says. "Oh, my, what'll I say to him when he calls? He is so smart and intellectual! Rodeaued at Harvard and traveled all over the world. I just know I won't be able to talk about the things that interest him. What do you think he'll want to talk about?" "I dare say," replied her friend, "that he will want to talk about literature, art, or history." "But I don't know anything about them!" "Why don't you read up? You have four days, and you can do a lot of reading in that time." "So the young woman read history for four days, and that she might be able to carry on a conversation with the intellectual giant from Harvard, who had traveled abroad. Thursday evening came. He arrived and was shown into the parlor. Presently she came down. He arose and took her by the hand and began to talk to her as follows: "Gee, but I'm glad to see you again, and say, you're lookin' fine tonight. That gown is a corker. How have you been since the dance? Didn't we have a great time? Say, never enjoyed myself so much in my life. You're the greatest partner I ever danced with. When it comes to two-stepping you're the sure enough limit. Honestly, you are. I'm not stringing you. I have been thinkin' all week about comin' up here tonight, and you don't know how tickled I am to see you lookin' so well." "For ten minutes he gabbled on. She leaned back in her chair, calm and self-possessed, determined that this intellectual being should not be compelled to bring the conversation down to her level. "Finally there was a lull, and she looked across at him and said, 'Wasn't that too bad about Mary, Queen of Scots?' "The young man was startled. 'Why, what do you mean?' he asked. "Haven't you heard about it?' she exclaimed. 'Why, gracious me! She had her head cut off!'"—George Ade in Success Magazine.

HOWARD CHARGED WITH SERIOUS FELONY

Offenders Who Are to Wait at Bar of Justice Today.

William Howard, a driver for the People's Transfer company, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Constable Dumas on a charge of an unlawful assault upon the two children of F. H. McLean of 3300 Tulare avenue. Howard is a married man 26 years of age and lives at 2000 Thomas avenue. He denies all knowledge of the crime with which he is charged.

The accused is the man who ran over and killed J. C. Smith on the 231 of last September. He says that his arrest is caused by the relatives of the girl who are seeking to avenge themselves.

Albert Cessner, a vagrant, arrested by Officer Bradley and Jack Barrett, a drunk, arrested by Officer Russell will appear in the police court to offer up explanations this morning.

Allie Parsons, Annie Crawford and Helen Davis are young women who, according to the police, have been living a dissolute life, joining the streets about town at all hours of the night. They were arrested yesterday afternoon by Police Constable McSwain and are being held in jail pending an investigation of their case by the authorities.

Jose Amachan is an Italian who was attempting to steal a free ride on the Santa Fe last night. Officer Fair caught him before he had a chance to hide and he is now repenting in the county jail.

Tom Matthews was telling all Fresno last night that he had too much to drink. He was subdued by Officers McCall and Kennedy and taken to the tanks.

"MARRIAGE OF KITTY" TONIGHT

MISS FLORENCE GEAR
In "The Marriage of Kitty" at the Barton Tonight.

"The Marriage of Kitty." The two women for Reggie's hand in the comedy, "The Marriage of Kitty," to be seen at the Barton tonight under the direction of Jules Murry, are as distinct in type as two women possibly could be. The Peruvian widow is what Kitty calls "magnificent." She is tall and dark, and with as strong an affection for my lord's pocketbook as for his person. Jealous of every look and thought, she makes life miserable for him and every one about her. Reggie, speaking of her on a journey, says to begin with "she travels with sixteen trunks and twenty-two small parcels, not counting her Aunt Eliza. She always manages to leave one of them behind, without diminishing the quantity of her baggage." She constantly demands Reggie to swear that he loves her, while her own affection for him seems to be expressed by an unnatural and unbounded jealousy. Kitty, on the other hand, describes her own self very cleverly when she says to her godfather, "There are hundreds of different kinds of women, while woman can be anything and everything—a delightful companion and a sensible friend. ... can be frivolous as a butterfly and as affectionate as a dog." And she concludes: "The stupidest woman can be a match for the cleverest man." Kitty smokes a cigarette with her coffee, and, when her husband appears to be delighted at it, explains it by saying, "there is always a moment after dinner when the prettiest woman in the world has no chance against the attractions of a good cigar."

"Uncle Josh Perkins," a clever rural comedy drama, will be the attraction at the Barton Thanksgiving matinee and night next Thursday, November 29th. As a play it is said to be wonderfully original in construction and possesses many thrilling situations, while pathos and humor intermingle all through the story, everything coming out as it should at the end. The scenic pictures, divided between "Uncle Josh's farm in Vermont and New York city, is one of the features of the play. Notwithstanding the numerous humorous situations, the author has never once allowed the plot to be lost sight of, which combined makes the play one of intense heart interest. The theater clientele of the Barton can turn out in force to see "Uncle Josh" in the assurance that the play is all that it should be, at least, that is the verdict accorded it in every town and city visited so far this year. The seat sale opens Monday, Prices 10, 25, 30 and 75 cents. Matinee prices 25 cents.

CARUSO WAS FOUND GUILTY

Fine of Ten Dollars Was the Pincher's Penalty.

The Great Tenor Was Severely Arraigned By Prosecuting Counsel.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Enrico Caruso, the famous Italian tenor, today was found guilty of annoying women in the Central Park Zoological garden. A fine of $10 was imposed. The verdict was rendered by Magistrate Baker, in the Yorkville police court after a hearing which extended more than three days.

Attorney Dittenhoeffer, counsel for Caruso, when informed of the verdict, said an appeal would be taken. The appeal will be heard before the justices of the court of special sessions, probably within a week.

Crowds and Roses. Every seat in the Yorkville police court was occupied today when court opened. Out in the street nearly a thousand persons struggled unsuccessfully to pass the police lines, established to hold back the crowd.

Inside there was a great bouquet of roses sent to the singer and bearing a card on which was written "Take it easy, whatever you do. From your friends and the people who know you." A subscription for money to buy the flowers was taken up in court yesterday. When Caruso stepped from his cab he was cheered by the crowd. There was no hissing. Within the door of the court room, a messenger presented the big bunch of roses to the tenor, but on the advice of the Director of the Metropolitan opera house he refused to accept them.

Hannah Still Missing. Hannah Graham, the complaining witness, did not appear to press the complaint against Caruso. Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot informing the court that Mrs. Graham would not be present. He said:

"I received information as to the identity of the woman known as Hannah Graham and expected to have her in court, but learned that she has left the jurisdiction of this court and I am unable to produce her today."

Former Judge Dittenhoeffer, Caruso's counsel, protested against such an explanation being made to the court and declared that he would not believe there was any such woman as Hannah Graham unless perhaps it was a woman who in this case is a confederate of Officer Cain.

Crowd Hissed Then. Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot, in his argument against Caruso, declared that Caruso was a pervert, who should be kept out of decent society. Mathot said the reason why Hannah Graham had not appeared in court was that she feared to face a crowd of perverts such as commonly attended such a hearing and such a crowd as was to be present. The spectators in the court room hissed Mathot at this remark.

The first witness today was A. W. Mahon, secretary of the New York American League Baseball club. He was asked to testify concerning Jeremiah McCarthy, the man who corroborated the evidence against Caruso given by Policeman Cain. Mahon testified that McCarthy was discharged by him.

"Why did you discharge McCarthy?" asked Attorney Dittenhoeffer.

"For dishonesty," replied Mahon. Caruso on the Stand.

Caruso was then called and questioned by Deputy Police Commissioner Mathot.

"Do you recall being at a reception in a house in Fifth Avenue in the vicinity of Thirty-sixth street on the Sunday afternoon preceding Thanksgiving last year?"

Caruso did not remember, but would not say he had not been there.

"Do you recall that as you were leaving a guest invited you to step into her automobile to conduct you to your hotel, and while on the way being charged by the lady with having attempted to take certain liberties with her in the automobile?"

An objection was made by Attorney Dittenhoeffer and was sustained.

"As the automobile was opposite the Union League club did it not stop and did you not leave the automobile because you were charged by the lady of attempting to take liberties with her and was not a mounted policeman at the door of the cab and did not he fail to arrest you only on the refusal of the woman to make a complaint?"

Caruso did not have to answer the question.

When the brief cross-examination of Caruso had been completed, Attorney Dittenhoeffer notified the court he had no more witnesses to produce.

Monkey House a Trap. Counsel for the prosecution then put in evidence a diagram showing the entire arrangement of the Central Park monkey house. Attorney Dittenhoeffer in his argument for the defense declared it was apparent that the case against Caruso was entirely police-made. The whole case depended upon the word of Hannah Graham and they had failed to produce her in court today.

Attorney Dittenhoeffer said Caruso was only one of many victims of the Central Park Monkey house. "That place is a deadly trap," said he. "It might have been designed as a place to blast reputations of innocent men. All that is needed is a Cain and a woman to do it."

A Malicious Lie. Attorney Dittenhoeffer reviewed the testimony and declared that substatiated proved that the story was a wicked unsubstantiated lie.

Caruso's own story," said Dittenhoeffer, "if believed, must stamp this policeman not only as unworthy to retain his position on the police force, but unworthy to associate with decent men or women. Why did he not arrest Caruso when he saw him attempt to defile two little school girls and then allow him to go on his way until he had insulted every woman in the building? That was the time to curb such a brute, as any man who would do such a thing must be. But the time had not come. The unworthy Hannah Graham was the only witness who had failed to produce her in court today."

Will Blast His Career. In closing Attorney Dittenhoeffer said:

"If this charge is sustained by the action of this court it will mean more to this defendant than any of us can know. He will be ostracized, and that will mean personal dishonor and professional failure. This man who has appeared before kings and queens and princes and potentates and in the private homes of the best in this and other lands must go into seclusion, disgraced and dishonored and with his great career blasted."

Caruso Amused. Deputy Commissioner Mathot, in his closing argument, savagely attacked Caruso, declaring him to be a man of wild morals, unworthy of being respected in any home and unfit to associate with persons in decent society. He warmly defended the New York police department and declared that it was absurd to charge, as had been charged by the defense, that the case against Caruso was "framed" by the police.

The real reason Hannah Graham did not want to appear as a witness was not because she feared that she would be unable to substantiate the charge, but that she did not want to face such a host of perverts as would have gathered—"such persons as now fill this court room," said the deputy commissioner. Misses swept the court room and the officer was forced to rap repeatedly before order was restored.

Mathot declared that the allegations which have been made against Cain and the police department by the defense was that Caruso and his friends had found it impossible to procure immunity by the use of money.

A Final Appeal. He said Caruso had never denied the real charge against him—that he had annoyed two young girls and had thrust upon them the most hateful indignities.

"I am here," said Mathot, "on behalf of your wives and daughters, in the name of the law, to tell you that if these panders and sexual perverts shall be permitted to use our public houses and parks for the prosecution of their bestial performances."

PRAIRIE FIRE IN BIG AREA

One Million Acres Swept of All Pasturage.

Flames Began in Western Texas and Spread Into Eastern New Mexico.

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 23.—Reports have reached here that a prairie fire has swept from western Texas into eastern New Mexico and that over 1,000,000 acres of grazing and homestead land has been burned bare of foliage. No loss of life is reported in New Mexico, but it is believed several perished in Texas.

It is estimated that on both sides of the boundaries between 50,000 and 100,000 head of cattle have been left without grazing. Many ranchers are preparing to ship their livestock at once to the nearest market, while the larger ranchers will drive their cattle to other ranges. The grass was short and the cattle stampeded back and forth through the fire but suffered little injury.

The flames swept portions of Palmer, Bea, Smith and other counties in Texas and burned for thirty-five or forty miles to the cross road in New Mexico. Some homesteaders in Roosevelt county are said to have lost their crops. Some ranch buildings were burned, but the ranchers generally succeeded in heading off the flames by back fire.

A northerner turned the fire back into its own track and it died out. The blackened prairie is now covered with snow, which fell during and after the fire.

Reflections of a Bachelor. One of the nicest professors for a young man to take up is to be born rich. There would hardly be any pleasure in being happy if everybody else was. A man can support his children much easier if they don't get married and have children, too.

If a man won't black his own shoes, his wife thinks he is extravagant, and if he does that he has no dignity. A woman seems to think it's a reflection on her honor to say her husband doesn't like to go to church, especially when she knows he doesn't. —New York Press.

Pointed Paragraphs. A woman begins to sit up and take notice when other women say nice things about her husband.

Few men will admit they are wrong as long as there is a chance to make others believe they are right.

siderably interrupted.

ARE TARIFF REFORMERS

National Grange Members Go On Record.

Sale of Goods Abroad at Less Prices than at Home an Abuse.

DENVER, Nov. 23.—After sitting ten days on legislation upon many matters of importance to the 1,000,000 members of the National Grange, the fourth annual convention of the order finally adjourned this afternoon.

It was decided today to establish a weekly paper to be devoted entirely to the interests of the grange. J. W. Darrow of New York, who has been at the head of the publication bureau of the grange for many years, is slated to be editor.

Esposal of the course of tariff revision was contained in the report of the committee on taxation, of which Obadiah Gardner of Maine is chairman, and former Governor Charles J. Bell of Vermont a member, which was adopted by the convention.

These recommendations are made in the report: "That whenever any of our manufacturers are using the tariff laws to enable them to sell their surplus products in foreign markets at a less price than they are sold at home, thereby making our own people pay more for their goods by reason of competition being prohibited, we demand the revision of these laws along the lines that will prevent such abuse."

If it cannot be done otherwise, we favor changing the constitution of the United States in order that a graduated income tax may be enacted, which we believe to be one of the most just and equitable of all laws.

"We would advocate that all laws for the assessment of taxes in all the states of the union be made uniform, insofar as the manner of assessment and the basis of values is concerned.

"Property is property, and we believe everything that is classed as property should be taxed on such, therefore, we favor a collateral inheritance tax."

A resolution offered by J. A. Newcomb of Colorado, indorsing the pure food laws already in force and asking that there be still more national legislation along this line, was adopted. The same delegate presented a resolution in favor of equality of citizenship in men and women, which was adopted.

JAMES J. HILL.

"There is something better than a vast amount of money," said James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern, just after he arrived in Chicago this morning from New York, where he sold his railroad iron-ore properties to the United States Steel corporation for something like $400,000,000.

"And what is that?" "Credit," said his eyes twinkled. He observed that he was nearly seventy years old, and he was about ready to retire from an active business life.

Then he said that he had not benefited personally by the sale—that it was for the stockholders of the Great Northern, a railroad property he had bought as a "wreck" and developed. How could the money be distributed? Oh, well, he thought he could be trusted to arrange that. He hadn't studied it out, and he wasn't talking about it, either. "Give me time," he said.

As for himself and as for the fact that the sale placed him as the principal stockholder of the Great Northern in the foremost rank of the richest men of the world, he intended to make a change in his manner of living. He thought the big deal would mean much to Chicago. He mentioned the $75,000,000 "steel town" of Gary at Chicago's threshold, but he thought the tremendous transactions meant more to the United States Steel corporation than to any one else. The corporation got a big, valuable property; got its money's worth.

Mr. Hill just hinted that this would be his last financial transaction, the heaviest, he admitted, that he had ever been engaged in, and that he had it in mind to retire from a strenuous business career.

"I'm getting perilously near three score and ten," he remarked, "and I don't want to die, like the trooper's horse, with my shoes on."

Asked about the ore deal, Mr. Hill said: "The news was all printed this morning. The interview given out by Mr. Gary covered everything."

"How much of the money do you get?" he was asked. "There you go again. I get none of it. It all goes to the stockholders. The mines didn't belong to me. They belonged to the stockholders. The stockholders will reap the benefit."

"But most of the stock belongs to you," it was suggested, but Mr. Hill insisted that he personally would not get any of the money.

"This was a tremendous big transaction," the interviewer commented. "You are quoted as saying there were at least 700,000,000 tons. How much is there?"

"How can I tell? There's a great deal of ore. It has been estimated at between 400,000,000 and 600,000,000 tons."

"Enough to last the world a long time?"

"Yes, enough to last the world a long time."

"How does it feel, Mr. Hill, to be one of the richest men in the world? What are you going to do with all that money?" A yearly income, after ten years, of $14,250,000. Or don't you care for money? I have been told that your only realization is developing the Northwest."

"No, I don't care for money. I have had all I want for a great many years. There is something a great deal better than money."

"And that?"

"Credit. Plenty of credit. It is a great thing to have. I am glad to have plenty of credit."

"How did you come to be a railroad man?"

"I was forced into the railroad business. You know I bought a wreck. Then I added some more wrecks."

"And you got that $400,000,000 worth of iron ore along with those wrecks?"

"Yes, the mineral land was part of the property."

"How much did it actually cost you? One dollar an acre or something like that?"

MAYOR SCHMITZ DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF GRAFTING

On Arriving at New York He Talked Freely About the Charges

HIS MOST SIGNIFICANT STATEMENTS WERE THAT HE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR WHAT HIS BROTHER DOES; THAT RUEF IS HONEST AND THAT HEARST PROMPTED THE CHARGES OF RELIEF FUND THEFT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco, who arrived here today on the steamship Patricia, said there was absolutely no truth in the charges against him and that he would go to San Francisco and court the fullest inquiry.

When the Patricia arrived at quarantine, Mayor Schmitz was shown the newspaper containing reports of the charges against him in San Francisco. He said:

Not a Scintilla, Even.

"There is not a scintilla of truth in the charges. The fact is, it is an attack made against me by political enemies because I made a strong fight against District Attorney Langdon, who was defeated for governor. His friends are now taking their revenge. It is an odd statement for a big man to make, but it is a fact that my nerves were so affected after the long and trying time that we had passed through that I made my trip abroad."

"I had intended to sail for home on December 1st, expecting to arrive in San Francisco about New Year's day. My friends were to give me a big reception and I suppose these people put this up to prevent it. Hearing that they were attacking me, I returned six weeks sooner than I expected. I did not know of these charges until today, after the pilot came on board. I shall court the nearest inquiry and as promptly as possible. I want it."

A Clear Conscience.

"I can only say that I have a clear conscience in this matter and where guilt does not exist, I have nothing to fear. I shall go to the Waldorf-Astoria for a day and then go directly home."

Mrs. Schmitz accompanied Mayor Schmitz when he came ashore from the steamer. An automobile was waiting for him and he entered it and left the dock at once, presumably to go to his hotel.

Greeted by Friends.

As Mayor and Mrs. Schmitz left the Patricia, and walked down the gangplank, they were met by several friends who rushed to shake hands with them and some of them threw their arms around the mayor and patted him on the back, telling him to be brave and he would come out on top. Several women embraced Mrs. Schmitz and kissed her.

Chief Hayes of the Hoboken police was on the dock with several officers. He said he would not arrest the mayor and was there merely in case the mayor was arrested to see that he was not taken out of the state. Two Western detectives, who were present, made no attempt to arrest Schmitz.

Followed by Sleuths.

After shaking hands with the friends who were there to greet him, Schmitz and his wife, followed by about twenty others, boarded two large touring cars. Four detectives entered cars and followed closely behind the automobiles, but no arrest was made. Mayor Schmitz seemed to be little concerned over his indictment. Coming up the bay on the steamer, he chatted freely about the case. He said he had not anticipated he would be indicted but he said he could face his accusers without fear.

Mayor Interviewed.

Mayor Schmitz was asked whether he had heard the reports that there had been a reign of terror recently in San Francisco, and he replied that he knew of no reign of terror and could not believe that conditions had not been exaggerated.

"I have represented the labor people of San Francisco," he continued, "and the first time I was elected I was looked on as a joke. This time, in spite of money used against me and grand jury reports, the people rallied to my support and again elected me to the mayoralty."

Was Praised for Work.

"At the time of the earthquake, when San Francisco was in chaos, all spoke of my work, including the newspapers, which had been against me. This made my opponents desperate. They determined to move against me. This is the result. They tried to discredit the prestige which I got for doing my duty. I am not at all sorry that it has happened. I am glad it has come up, for I believe that the investigation will react against just those people who have instigated it."

French Restaurants.

"What is your position in regard to the French restaurants?"

"My position has never changed in the matter of these restaurants. They have each a liquor license, and it is optional with the police commissioners whether they grant or refuse a license to those places. One man on the board, Mr. Hutton, demanded that the license be not granted until the rooms were taken out. I protested then because such a law had always existed and they could not be taken away without ruining the business. You have them here and it is an established condition. For this reason I took the stand that I did."

As to Herbert Schmitz.

Here someone broke in to inform Schmitz that it had been charged that his brother, Herbert, had an interest in a notorious resort known as the "Municipal Club," and that further, it was alleged that Herbert's interest was really the mayor's.

"No one has ever held stock of that kind for me with or without my sanction," he replied. "My answer to your question is that I in no way assumed responsibility for the acts of others. I am not my brother's keeper. I say this, that I am very close to my brother and I cannot believe the story."

Mayor Schmitz declared that he had been directed toward the suppression of graft. He said he was to the possible guilt of Ruef and others who have been mentioned in the disclosures, Mayor Schmitz reiterated that he was not his brother's keeper.

He denied having received any communication from Ruef since he went abroad. Asked whether he considered Ruef's fee for appearing before the police commission as excessive, the mayor replied:

"The question of Mr. Ruef's fee is not a matter for me to determine. Mr. Ruef is a man of high standing in his profession. If I knew he were dishonest, I would have absolutely nothing to do with him."

"What are your relations with Mr. Hearst?"

"He is my attorney; that's all."

"In view of the present trouble in San Francisco, will you allow him to continue as your counsel?"

"Everything justifies my faith in Mr. Ruef. I will continue to have faith in him and will not drop him as my counsel."

Hearst Is Blamed.

Schmitz was asked if he thought Hearst may be behind the charges which had led to returning of the indictments.

In his reply he said that the district attorney was a candidate for governor on the ticket of the Independence League. He averred that Hearst had sent a special commissioner to see him while he was abroad, to ask him to send some message to his fellow labor men in the city of New York that might be of assistance to Hearst in his campaign. The mayor declared that he had refused to do anything, in accordance with his past practice, and he would neither favor nor oppose Hearst.

As to Relief Fund.

He refused to say whether he definitely believed that Hearst was at the bottom of the bringing of charges that money sent to San Francisco for her relief after the earthquake had disappeared instead of going into the hands of the sufferers. To this he replied:

"I had nothing to do with that. The relief money was turned over to a committee of which I pointed out and they are absolutely responsible for any shortage."

Knows of No Graft.

Asked whether in his opinion that was a "carnival of graft" in San Francisco, he replied: "I fought graft, and if a story was brought to me it was thoroughly investigated. I found no graft in San Francisco."

Hilbert Talked, Too.

Frederick H. Hilbert, president of the Hilbert Mercantile company of San Francisco, who accompanied Mayor Schmitz on his trip, when asked whether there was any truth in the report that it had been responsible for a saloon or restaurant keeper to get a license until he bought his liquor from the Hilbert company, absolutely denied that report.

"It is," he asserted, "dirty politics. Such a thing is not only impossible, but absolutely false. I am going back without fear. The whole move is politics."

She Was Intimate With and an Accomplice of Her Husband's Murderer.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Aurelia Schreck, widow of Joel Schreck, for whose murder in this city on July 14th last, was sentenced to life imprisonment, was today freed from a charge of perjury and discharged from custody by Judge Trask in the Superior court. She has been in jail since her husband's murder, first charged with being an accomplice of Stackpole's and later accused of perjury.

The court ruled that the grand jury in returning the indictment against Mrs. Schreck, had not acted in accordance with the form of the law. Mrs. Schreck turned state's evidence against Stackpole, with whom she had been on intimate relations.

FRENCH SOLDIERS HAVING HARD WORK

Taking Inventories of Church Property Calls for Regular Campaigning.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The taking of the church inventories under the law providing for the separation of church and state in the mountainous regions of France, where an abundance of snow has fallen, is progressing slowly on account of the hostility of the population, which compels the troops sent with the state officials to conduct regular military operations, keep open their lines of communication, and bring up supplies.

The church of Divion, near Brest, which had been barricaded for six months, was forced open at daylight today by a detachment of cavalry which dispersed the clerics, who from a distance chanted hymns while the taking of the inventory was in progress.

The authorities at Marseilles have begun legal action against bishop Andrieu of that city because of the violent language he used in protesting against the action of the authorities and the church and state separation law.

RUSSIAN PAPER ON JAPAN'S ATTITUDE

Evidently the Novoe Vremya Hopes to See Uncle Sam and Japan at War.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—The Novoe Vremya, which is continually raising the spectre of a war between Japan and the United States, in an article today upon the relations between Japan and the United States says: "Although the San Francisco school trouble has been settled, the official optimism on both sides is not justified. The situation is quite similar to that preceding the Russo-Japanese war. The race issue, cleverly raised by the Tokio cabinet, may at the proper moment be revived and proved to the point of a rupture, giving Japan the prerogative of attacking side."

"This growing conflict of interests is more serious because it is inspired by a national ambition to which the United States in the future must either make full submission or measure forces with militant Japan."

PEARY HAS RETURNED

Arctic Explorer Landed Safely at Sydney, C. B.

Had Gale Not Occurred Early in Trip, Pole Might Have Been Reached.

SYDNEY, C. B., Nov. 23.—Flying the flag of the United States which had been placed near the pole than any other national standard, and weather beaten and disabled, the Peary Arctic steamer Roosevelt arrived here today under sail and steam after sixteen months vain effort to reach the pole. Though not entirely successful, the expedition nevertheless got to 87 degrees, 6 minutes, north latitude, or within 204 miles of the pole.

The Roosevelt left Port Aux Basques, N. E., at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, averaged eight miles an hour to Sydney, experiencing light winds and rain. The ship came to anchor off the Yacht Squadron pier. Though the hour was early, the Roosevelt was soon visited by the American consul and various local officials and an invitation was extended to Commander Peary, on behalf of the Sydney Board of Trade to be the guest at a banquet in his honor tonight.

Commander Peary came ashore at once. Immediately after the Roosevelt anchored and joined Mrs. Peary, who has been here for two weeks waiting for her husband's return.

When asked what he thought of the suggestion embodied in Fridtjof Nansen's recent interview to the effect that Peary's latest experience served to strengthen the plan of reaching the pole by drifting from Behring sea, Commander Peary said he always believed there were great possibilities in the drifting theory for most of the time, but it was not always of the force of a gale. No person could anticipate the coming of a gale, either in the Arctic region or elsewhere. He would not talk about the Wellman-Chicago-Herald expedition plans, as he said he made it a point not to disclose the ideas of other explorers. The commander said his immediate movements were in doubt. He thought he would pay off the New Foundland members of his crew at Sydney, make some repairs to the Roosevelt, get a new crew and proceed to New York.

Commander Peary looks in the best of health and spirits, and though disappointed at the failure to reach the pole, he is satisfied with the advance actually made.

Dr. L. J. Wolf said the health of the party had been excellent. There was no death and practically no sickness. Dr. Wolf said he had not the slightest doubt, if the gale in the early part of March had not occurred, the pole would have been reached without difficulty.

Dr. Wolf said the other members of the expedition intended to stay by the Roosevelt until she reached New York. Captain John Bartlett, master of the Roosevelt, said the steamer was a good boat and that he will sail in her whenever she is ready to go again to the Arctic.

Why Peary Failed.

Captain Bartlett was in charge of one of the parties supporting Commander Peary's advance. He said the storm that did the mischief was tremendous in violence, and accompanied by blinding squalls of fine Arctic snow. The ice field was very badly and was destroyed. Under ordinary conditions, tracking is easy in the far north, as the snow packs hard and boot marks are sometimes preserved for six months. Captain Bartlett is satisfied the pole could be reached without great difficulty, weather permitting, and believes it would have been accomplished this trip, except for the gale in question.

Crew Won't Go Again.

First Mate Bartlett, a cousin of the captain, who has been here before but never remained here prior to this trip, said the crew of the ship were well protected and well fed and the Roosevelt was a staunch ship, but he did not think many of the New Foundland members of the present crew would be willing to join another expedition. It was a hard experience, which few men cared to repeat. Several other members of the crew, including some of the engineering staff, expressed similar sentiments.

Their complaint was directed, not to the treatment by Peary, but to the privations and dangers of the work. Generally they were satisfied with the ship and her stores and equipment.

After reading the letters accumulated during the past fortnight, Commander Peary decided not to leave Sydney today. He will leave by rail tomorrow for New York.

What Was Accomplished.

There was a gap of 100 miles in the survey of Grant Land by the English expedition on the one hand, and that of the Swedish discoveries on the other. Peary has closed this up. Probably the only section of unknown coast remaining in the Arctic is the northeast coast of Greenland, embracing 150 miles.

Peary Proud of Vessel.

Commander Peary is enthusiastic about the performance of the Roosevelt. Asked if the very advanced point in which he had been able to place the Roosevelt in winter quarters was due to careful and increased knowledge of the movement of the ice, he said it was due to the Roosevelt herself. It did not believe there was ever another ship which could have stood the battle with the ice the Roosevelt had successfully fought.

Peary's Acknowledgments.

Many slight-seers and relic hunters visited the Peary Arctic steamer Roosevelt today. Commander Peary has received a large number of congratulatory messages and requests the Associated Press to circulate the following general acknowledgment:

"Commander Peary wishes to express his deep appreciation of the numerous letters and telegrams of congratulation which have been sent him. As rapidly as possible, he will make direct and individual acknowledgments."

The Roosevelt will undergo temporary repairs here, a new crew will be signed, and the steamer will sail next Tuesday for New York.

FEW INVENTORIES YET TO BE TAKEN

French Soldiers Meet With Piercing Opposition at Yssartes and Fired in the Air.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—There remain very few church inventories still to be taken. Inventories in six departments were completed today. In most cases there was no resistance, but in several instances the troops that approached the churches were stoned by the peasants. This led to their arrest. The prisoners were tried and given light sentences.

At Yssartes, in the department of Ardennes, a critical situation developed. Five hundred parishioners armed with clubs, staves, pitchforks and pikes, showered stones upon the soldiers, whereupon the assistant commandant ordered his men to fire over the heads of the demonstrators and the crowd fled. The doors of the church were then broken in. The church itself was crowded with women and children, who thronged around the officials in an unsuccessful effort to prevent the taking of the inventory. When the troops marched off the people hunted them out of sight.

THE WIDOW WAS CHARMING

Ade's College Play Warmly Received.

Its Americanism and Humor and Smart Epigram Make It a Winner.

"Zip! Boom! Ah! And with a grand boom 'The College Widow' came to town last night to cheer up dull hearts, make us glad to be alive and rejoice in the American youth, pranks and all, for the brightness and zest they give to life. The Barton has not contained for months such an audience, both as to size and enthusiasm, as it housed last night. Every box and loge was filled, the lower floor was packed to overflowing with chairs jammed into the orchestra to accommodate late-comers who clamored for seats. And it's a safe wager that every soul there was glad it had not stayed home. If any one had a trouble of a worry at the beginning of the play it was forgotten or lost sight of in the mad excitement pictured on the stage, and in the football scenes where it is a wonder the audience did not rise in a body and run for Atwater.

George Ade is making his fortune on "The College Widow," and it's easy to see why he is, for it's a thoroughly American play that appeals to every true American heart. After one sees a true American play that appeals to every true American heart, one wonders whether after all it isn't a better kind of play to see than a kumby problem drama that leaves you in a state of chaos. It is simple, natural and distinctly refreshing, makes you feel as though you had just had an invigorating dip in the surf. As in all of Ade's plays, "The College Widow" is a play of types, exaggerated types, for the whole thing is a satire on life. They must be strongly drawn to make the picture clear. But from Peter Witherspoon, the overriden president of a Middle West college, to Flora Wiggins, the boarding house keeper's daughter, the characters all stand out as individuals and as types of people that walk the streets every day. Some of the scenes are thrilling, picturing the days so dear to every student's heart. It is a play of boys and what an astonishing bunch of good fellows, one yet last night. Not one of them failed you at the critical moment. If it was not the original company, it was such a good substitute that one could not want to say. Everything went with the bang and vim that had to be or the play would have been dismal. One could not do otherwise than enthuse with a football yell ringing in your ears every few moments or a funny bit of side comedy going on. Mr. Ade has a unique way of bringing in the fun just at the moment when a second more of seriousness would spoil the play for the audience. The jokers bright situations and quickly changing ones. It's like watching a three-ring circus when you're watching the "Widow" you almost miss Flora in her bit of by-play with Matt McGowan.

The football team looked the part and made a great showing in the third act, when the enthusiasm runs high and by the time the curtain falls the audience feels as though it had helped win the game. The company, which is a large one, is a credit to Mr. Savage, who is noted for getting the right people together at the right time in the right place. It seemed as though each one must have been just what he seemed to be. They were a clever lot and helped to make the success of the performance. Miss Louise Butler, the widow, might not have been just a pretty widow as Dorothy Tennant, who was in the original company, but she was surely deserving of the name character. Her and pretty two, her capacity and demureness, tact and good comradship made her thoroughly adorable and she put spirit into the part. Her strong point was her frank manner and her smile. A girl with a smile like that would play havoc with any man's heart, stout or otherwise. Bessie Tanner, the athletic girl, was in splendidly capable hands with Miss Jessie Turner. And in the mold of an athletic girl to begin with, she had the dash and swing and the voice that made her stand out as one of the strong characters. Miss Patty Albion as Flora Wiggins had a character part which could not be duplicated in any play. It was the most difficult role in the play and was cleverly impersonated. Then there was the professional chapone played by Estelle Dale, whose drawling voice and air of good-fellowship with all of the boys was delightful. She was a handsome woman and wore a stunning gown or two.

Then the boys came from such an array of heroes but it's hard to choose! Of course there was Billy Bolton, the real hero and halfback of the team, done by Robert Kelly, a good-looking, immensely likable chap, who understood the game and the widow and won both. Mr. Kelly had his audience with him as he had all the football enthusiasts. He had a hero's role and he played it accordingly. In fact, you almost concluded that the only thing worth while was to be a football hero. In "Stub" Talmadge was given a picture of a second "Chickens" most famous. Most of the boys played "Stub" is deserving of all kinds of praise. He was the typical busy under graduate and his pursuit by Flora for the board money past due furnished a large share of the good fun of the play. Into his part and Flora's Mr. Ade has put his best epigrams. The character of Stub was the best of the college boys. George Adell as trainer showed himself worthy of the role and furnished no small part of the wit. In contrast to the "boys" was the tutor, J. Beresford Holley, who showed this contrast as it was intended to be shown by George S. Trimble, portraying the part of Beresford Holley, the hero's father, was capital and in his scene with his son gave one of the most telling points in the play, showing the outward disapproval of his son's devotion to the Baptist college for Atwater.

That Fresno approves of widows, and especially "College Widows," was demonstrated over and over again by the applause which reared from the pit to the gallery as the curtain fell on the third act and again at the close.

"The Octoroon" at the Novelty.

The celebrated Southern melodrama, "The Octoroon," still continues to draw immense crowds at the Novelty theater. It is a play that should draw anywhere, and especially when presented by such a large and capable cast as that which holds the boards at the Novelty. There will be a special matinee today for ladies and children. Next week the thrilling melodrama, "Shadows of a Great City," will be presented.

THE DISGUISE THROWN OFF

Cannery Were Purchasers of Kearney Crop.

Goods Are Still on the Estate, Although They Have Been Paid For.

Packers are watching with a great deal of interest what is to become of the Kearney raisins. As yet they have not been removed from the Kearney ranch.

At the time of the purchase by Ellis Brothers, the Republican stated that the California Fruit Cannery's association was back of the deal financially. While this was denied at the time, there is now no serious pretense on the part of officials of the Cannery's association that they are back of the deal. The raisins brought 5% cents and a tonnage bonus.

We never denied that we were back of the deal," remarked a prominent official of the Cannery's association yesterday. "The fact is that we had a business deal with Ellis Brothers in regard to our seedling, and when the Kearney deal came up we were interested in it. It is not true that Ellis Brothers were mere dummies for us. They bought and will use what portion of the raisins they required in the ordinary course of their business. We will get what raisins out of the pile that we require. Now that is the whole transaction."

There has been a rumor in raisin circles that Ellis Brothers would offer for local purchase quite a block of raisins, including the Kearney goods. The explanation is that the Eastern market does not justify the high local price, the price here being forced up by the packers covering for selling short. The fact that the crop is short and the demand brisk would seem to discredit the rumor. The season is now practically over and 90 per cent of the crop has been moved.

Shoes to the amount of $100 have been bought by a fund contributed by the Fresno Charity Association and will also be distributed.

Fire in Republican Basement.

An accumulation of wet in the heating apparatus in the basement of the Republican building caused a fire yesterday forenoon, but the blaze was put out by hand extinguishers before any damage was done. An automatic feeder had got out of order, permitting the oil to accumulate. The fire department was called out, but its services were not required.

Sixty Lives Lost During Season of Navigation Now Drawing to Close.

CHATHAM, N. B., Nov. 23.—Sixty lives were lost and nearly a score of vessels were swept to destruction on treacherous reefs and sandbars of the Gulf of St. Lawrence during the season of navigation now drawing to a close. DINUBA CASE MYSTERIOUS Officers Find No Trace of Robbers.

A Rumor of Sensational Developments—No New Facts Yesterday.

It was rumored yesterday that there may be some developments shortly of a sensational character in the reported robbery of J. E. Williams, the Southern Pacific and Wells-Fargo agent at Dinuba Wednesday night. The officers who have worked on the case have been so busy that it was of no value to the officers as a means of identification of the robbers, and many circumstances in the case have baffled them. The officers do not believe that there was any leak on the telephone line in ordering the money sent to the Dinuba bank from Fresno and that robbers could not have known of the rich haul in store for them. Another strange circumstance is that after tying and blindfolding the agent, they should release him after taking him a few miles from town so that he could return and give the alarm. This in the opinion of the officers looked very anomalous on the part of the robbers. The effort to locate tracks has also been rather unsuccessful.

Sheriff Collins of Merced stated last night that no pay had been learned. O. J. Meade, of the Southern Pacific detective and Detective Chamber of Wells-Fargo came to Fresno last night. Meade had been two days in Dinuba and "Tintincher" spent yesterday there. Meade will return this morning. The officers went to a room of a hotel without registering and would not be seen in reference to the case.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Nov. 23.—Early today two masked men, in an attempt to hold up the St. Charles hotel here, shot and killed William H. Halpin, an actor, so badly that he died in a few hours. ASSOCIATED GOT THE OIL

Will Pay Independents 27-1-2 Cents Per Barrel.

Buying Also One Million Barrels in Storage at Twenty-five Cents.

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 23.—The battle between the Independent Oil Producers' agency of this state and the great oil corporations for a better price for the product of the former, was ended this afternoon by a contract being entered into with the Associated Oil company whereby this corporation will receive the entire product of the small producers for the next year at the price of 27 1/2 cents per barrel. The former price received by the independents was 18 cents a barrel.

This agreement was reached after ten days of deliberations between the producers and the Standard, Associated and Union Oil companies, all of which had representatives in this city. At the sessions yesterday and today the Standard and Associated were the only bidders. The former offered 25 cents at the opening, and knowing of this offer, the Associated bid 1/2 cent higher. The producers refused to consider either offer, and today Assistant General Manager Scribner, representing the Associated, offered 27 1/2 cents. After many hours of discussion, this offer was finally accepted.

One million barrels of crude oil in storage was also purchased by the Associated for 25 cents. Oil men are generally satisfied with the deal and feel encouraging as to the future.
